THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY,
Washington, December 4, 1886.

Sir: In obedience to law, I have the honor to submit a report for the year ending November 1, 1886, exhibiting—

First. A summary of the state and condition of every association from which reports have been received the preceding year, at the several dates to which such reports refer, with an abstract of the whole amount of banking capital returned by them, of the whole amount of their debts and liabilities, the amount of circulating notes outstanding, and the total amount of means and resources, specifying the amount of lawful money held by them at the times of their several returns.

Second. A statement of the associations whose business has been closed during the year, with the amount of their circulation redeemed and the amount outstanding.

Third. Suggestions as to amendments to the laws relative to banking by which it is thought the system may be improved.

Fourth. A statement exhibiting under appropriate heads the resources and liabilities and condition of the banks, banking companies, and savings banks organized under the laws of the several States and Territories, such information being obtained by the Comptroller from the reports made by such banks, banking companies, and savings-banks to the legislatures or officers of the different States and Territories, and where such reports could not be obtained the deficiency has been supplied from such other authentic sources as were available.

Fifth. The names and compensation of the clerks employed in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, and the whole amount of the expenses of the banking department during the year.

This is the twenty-fourth annual report of the Comptroller of the Currency.

THIRD.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO AMENDMENTS TO THE LAWS RELATING TO BANKING BY WHICH THE SYSTEM MAY BE IMPROVED AND THE SECURITY OF THE HOLDERS OF ITS NOTES AND OTHER CREDITORS MAY BE INCREASED.

The security now afforded to the holders of national-bank notes by the deposit of bonds in trust with the Treasurer, seems to be complete, and as long as the bonds of the United States remain (as they now are and have been for some years) readily salable at above ninety cents on the dollar, the national-bank currency will continue to enjoy the confidence of the public.

It must not be lost sight of, however, that there are conceivable contingencies in which the salability of these bonds would be impaired, and the security of the notes correspondingly affected, but the probability of any such contingency is too remote for present consideration, while the provision of law giving to the United States a first lien upon all the assets of the bank for the amount of any deficiency in the proceeds of the bonds would seem to be a sufficient factor of safety in any case.

The security of other creditors depends upon two conditions: first, the proportion of assets to liabilities; and, second, the solid value of the assets. Both proportion and value, in any given case, will depend upon the management of the business of the bank; hence the supervision of the business and management of every bank, by the Comptroller of the Currency, has now become the most important feature of the national banking system.

The laws providing for this supervision, and those which prescribe and limit the character of the business that may be done by the national banks should be frequently revised in order that the light of experience may be utilized to their constant improvement.

To this end I respectfully submit the following suggestions:

First. That section 5137 of the Revised Statutes should be so amended as to express more clearly and definitely the limitation put upon national banks with respect to their dealings in real estate and in mortgages, and to provide a penalty for violation of the law.

Second. That section 5145 be amended by adding the following clause: Whenever the vice-president and the cashier, or either of them, is a director, the board of directors must consist of at least five members besides such officers.

Third. That section 5151 be so amended as to exempt from further liability the shareholders of national banks of which the surplus shall exceed by 20 per cent. the amount of the capital stock of the bank, and that they shall be partially relieved from such responsibility in proportion as the surplus shall exceed the 20 per cent. now required by law. Provision, however, should be made that such exemption cannot be obtained through any process by which capital becomes converted into surplus, and also that such exemption is not to be enjoyed until after the Comptroller of the Currency is satisfied that the entire capital and surplus are represented by good assets.

Fourth. That section 5160, as modified by the act of July 12, 1882, be so amended as to require that the bonds which every association must at all times have on deposit with the Treasurer shall be registered United States bonds bearing interest.

Fifth. That section 5192, as modified by the act of June 20, 1874, be so amended as to require all banks to keep on hand, or at some centre near their location, a larger proportion of their reserve than that now specified in the law.

The present provision, allowing a part of the reserve to be kept in a distant city, appears to be a survival from the system of redemption formerly existing, which was repealed by the act of June 20, 1874, and its maintenance seems inconsistent with the general policy of the laws as they now exist.

Sixth. That the act of June 20, 1874, be so amended as to make it evident whether banks need keep a reserve on Government deposits secured by bonds.

Seventh. That section 5200 be so amended as to render its application practicable in all cases.

It would appear that when in 1864* a limit was placed upon the accommodation which a national bank might extend to any person, company, corporation, or firm, for money borrowed, Congress had in view the then existing limit as to the number of national banks and as to the formation of new banks, arising out of the limitation upon the total volume of national-bank currency.

At that time the privilege of issuing currency was the most valued of all the privileges conferred by the national-bank act, and the limit upon this restricted the number of banks in each community; hence it was logical and consistent for the law to provide that this limited bank accommodation should not be monopolized by any small group of persons.

Now, however, all limitations upon the total volume of national-bank currency have been removed, and to all intents and purposes the system has become one of free banking, open to citizens of the entire country, to any extent to which they may desire to avail themselves of its privileges; hence there does not appear to be any longer the same reason that there was formerly for the law to enforce a general distribution through the community of the amount of accommodation at the disposal of a national bank.

As a matter of fact, with the growth and extension of the system, banks, especially in the large cities, have had their business very much specialized, and such banks cannot continue to exist or remain in the system if they should now be held to a strict conformity with section 5200.

The specialization of the business of the banks means, of course, their becoming identified with special lines in trade, manufacturing, farming, &c., and as in all such industries there has long been a tendency toward concentration in the hands of a comparatively small number of large houses, it follows that banks so situated must lend largely to particular firms or else lose their most important customers. Thus business necessity on the one hand, and the limitations of the law on the other, have produced, in many cases, habitual disregard of the law, and in other cases evasions of the law, all of which must be either ignored or tolerated by the Comptroller of the Currency, because the only penalty now provided is forfeiture of the corporate existence of the offending bank.

While these reasons exist for modifying the law, at the same time it is of course important that some limitation should be imposed upon the amount that any bank should hold in the paper of any person, company, corporation, or firm, and that the limit should be such as can be effectively enforced by the Comptroller.

To this end I respectfully suggest the following :

- (1) That the limit of 10 per cent. of the capital, in loans to one party,

* The limitation in the original act of 1863 was different and complicated.

VIII REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

be extended so as to be computed upon capital and whatever surplus may be held in excess of the legal requirement of 20 per cent. of capital.

(2) That this limit may be exceeded only in cases where a bank holds security of undoubted value, and which is not in any way dependent for its ready convertibility upon the borrower.

(3) That the penalty for violation of this restriction be such, in the discretion of Congress, as shall appear to be proportionate to the nature of the offense and such as may be readily enforced by the Comptroller of the Currency.

Eighth. That section 5209 be so amended as to extend the penalties therein specified for making false entries, reports, or statements, so as to make them apply to bank examiners or other persons in the employment of the Comptroller of the Currency, and also to all such acts done with intent to deceive the Comptroller of the Currency or any person in his employment.

The protection of banks and of those whose interests are in the keeping of the banks against fraud on the part of the bank officers invites the attention of Congress, both in the interest of general order and for the improvement of the banking system. In order that legislation deemed advisable may be framed, with reference to past experience, I have given in the Appendix to this report extracts from records in this office showing the causes of national-bank failures in all cases in respect to which such information is accessible.

Ninth. That section 5219 be so amended as to enable the national banks to obtain that practical protection against unequal State taxation which it was manifestly the intention of Congress to secure to them in this section.

Tenth. That section 5240 be so amended as to apportion the compensation for examination of national banks according to the aggregate investments in each case, rather than according to the amount of capital, and that provision be made for more frequent examinations than are now possible by adding to the amount paid by the banks a suitable amount to be paid out of the Treasury in order that supervising examiners may be employed.

Eleventh. That a law be enacted to the effect that any oath required of the officers or directors of a national banking association may be taken before any commissioner of a circuit court, or before a notary public having an official seal, or before any other officer using a seal, where such notary or officer is qualified by the law of any State or Territory to administer oaths.

There is a practical necessity for such an enactment; for upon an examination of the statutes, in the light of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the United States v. Curtis (107 U. S., 671), it appears that no provision has been made for giving legal effect to the oaths required of bank officers and directors, except in the one case to which the act of February 26, 1881, specially applies.

This act evidently aimed to supply an omission in the law, but inasmuch as it applies to only one case out of several, other omissions seem by implication to have the sanction of Congress, which I am sure they have not, because, as the law now stands, a director who swears falsely as to his qualifications for such position, or a president or cashier who makes oath to a false statement of the dividends and earnings of his association, cannot be convicted of perjury.

Twelfth. That, in the absence or disability of the cashier, all certificates required by law to be made by him may be made, with the authority of the board of directors, by the assistant cashier, if the bank has such an officer, and if it has no such officer, then by some one appointed by the directors to perform the duties of the cashier; provided, however, that no assistant or acting cashier shall be authorized to sign circulating notes. The want of such a provision in the banking law is the cause of considerable inconvenience and annoyance to the banks.

Thirteenth. I renew the recommendation of my predecessor for further legislation to ascertain and protect the rights of shareholders desiring to withdraw from national banks which are extending their corporate existence.

My attention has been called to several cases of apparent violation of section 5243 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, but there does not appear to be in the law any direction or authority to the Comptroller of the Currency to take action in such cases.

The instances reported are the following: National Savings Bank, of New Haven, Conn.; National Savings Bank, of Albany, N. Y.; National Savings Bank, of Buffalo, N. Y.; National Bank of Honduras, of Washington, D. C.

The only bank in the District of Columbia to which section 332 of the Revised Statutes applies is the National Savings Bank of the District of Columbia.

This institution was chartered May 24, 1870, never had any capital stock, and appears, from such examinations as are reported, never to have accumulated a surplus fund.

The charter required the bank to file, in the office of the clerk of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, a bond, with security for $200,000, to be approved by one of the judges of the court, and the court was given authority to require a new bond and additional security whenever the interests of the depositors might seem to render it proper to do so.

Upon examination I find that there is a bond on file in the clerk's office for $200,000, binding the bank and sixteen persons "jointly but not severally" to pay and satisfy creditors, &c.

This bond is under the seal of the bank and the respective seals of the other obligors, but it is not dated. The approval of Mr. Justice Olin is affixed to it, dated October 30, 1870.

By the records of this office it appears that at various times communications have been addressed by my predecessors to the chief justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, calling attention to the impairment of this security by the death of some of the obligors and the departure of others from Washington.

By the records of that court it appears that on February 13, 1884, an order was made reciting certain of these communications and requiring the bank to file a new bond on or before February 25, 1884, or to show cause to the contrary.

The answer of the bank to this rule sets forth, substantially:

1. That the Comptroller of the Currency had no authority to inquire into the sufficiency of the bond.
2. That the bond was still sufficient because of the wealth of four of the obligors out of the original sixteen.

No further proceedings are on file, and no new bond has been executed.

The charter of this bank required annual reports to be made to Congress by its officers, but no such reports have been lately made, and upon inquiry the examiner from this office was informed that it was considered by the bank that the reports sent in to the Comptroller of the Currency, under the act of June 30, 1876, operated to discharge the bank from the duty of reporting to Congress.

According to section 332 the Comptroller may, in his discretion, report to Congress the results of such examinations as he may see proper to make of the banks in the District of Columbia, and if this bank were now reporting directly to Congress there would be no occasion, in my opinion, for me to make a report on it also; but since it appears that between the charter and the act of 1876, both providing for reports, no report at all reaches Congress, I respectfully submit in the Appendix a copy of the report made by the bank on October 7, 1886, which agrees substantially with the report made to me by a special examiner on November 15, 1886.

LEGAL DECISIONS.

In the Appendix will be found a carefully compiled digest of decisions on points of law affecting the organization, operations, and dissolution of national banks.

Numerous legal questions, involving points not yet adjudicated, are constantly arising, especially in connection with insolvent banks; and there are many quasi-judicial functions imposed upon the Comptroller of the Currency which in his absence devolve upon the Deputy Comptroller, so that it would seem only just to these officers, as well as to the banks and their creditors, that there should be in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency a law officer or clerk, with a salary of not less than $2,400, to make a special study of corporate and bank law and to be the responsible legal adviser of the Comptroller.

FOURTH.*STATE BANKS, SAVINGS BANKS, LOAN AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Since November 30, 1882, the latest date at which banks and bankers outside the national system were required by law to make returns to the Treasury Department, it has been impossible to obtain full and satisfactory information as to their number, capital, or transactions.

By the courtesy of the officers of some of the States I am enabled to present official returns made to those States, but as these returns do not embrace the whole country, I have presented them separately from information obtained otherwise as to all such banks and bankers.

The figures thus obtained, in respect to the States from which official returns have been received, will indicate, upon comparison with such official figures, the degree of reliance to be placed upon the unofficial information as to the other States.

The table below presents a summary of the data obtained from official sources and is followed by a comparative statement of the official and unofficial figures relating to the same institutions:

The official returns and such information as has been obtained otherwise will be found in the Appendix.

Besides the institutions accounted for in the above tables, I have a list of 3,608 private bankers and banking firms.

Of these, 1,569 are reported as having an aggregate capital of $117,718,432, and $13,807,979 in surplus and undivided profits.

Of the other 2,039 I have been unable to obtain any information beyond their existence and location.

The following table, stating, by geographical divisions, the number of private banks in the United States, with the aggregate amount of their capital, deposits, and investments in United States bonds for the six months ending May 31, 1882, has appeared in previous reports. It

XVI REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

INFORMATION.

Section 333 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, in prescribing the scope of the annual report to be made by the Comptroller of the Currency, imposes upon that officer the further duty of submitting to Congress such other information in relation to the banks as in his judgment may be useful. The following information is accordingly submitted:

The following table gives the number of national banks organized in each State and Territory during the year ending November 1, 1886, with their aggregate capital, bonds, and circulation:

Eight national banks with an aggregate capital of $650,000 failed and were placed in the hands of receivers during the year, as shown in the following tabulated statement, to which is appended a brief account of the chief cause of failure in each case.

STATEMENT of BANKS FAILED during the year, their CAPITAL, SURPLUS, and LIABILITIES according to last report of condition.

8. The First National Bank of Blair, Nebr.	June 7, 1882	Aug. 25	Sept. 8	50,000	12,394	279,669	June 3
Total.....				650,000	204,195	1,296,312

* Total, as per statement, except capital, surplus, circulation, and undivided profits.

1. The First National Bank of Lake City, Minn., failed in consequence of heavy losses, having its funds locked up in inconvertible paper. The stockholders, believing that the assets would prove valuable, bought nearly all the claims against the bank and then deposited a sum that enabled the Comptroller to pay all debts, principal and interest. After this was done the remaining assets were turned over to an agent of the stockholders in accordance with the provisions of section 3 of the act of June 30, 1876.

2. The Lancaster National Bank of Clinton, Mass., was wrecked by its president, who absconded to Canada. Money and securities of the bank and of others were taken bodily away, but a large amount was subsequently recovered, which had been buried on a mountain in Vermont.

3. The First National Bank of Sioux Falls, Dak., had its assets seized on writ of attachment in a suit on its cashier's check for upward of $16,000, which was claimed to have been fraudulently obtained. This caused the bank to fail; but it had been badly managed for some time previous, and had suffered large losses on overdue paper and mortgages.

4. The First National Bank of Wabpeton, Dak., appears to have failed through reckless management, which locked up its funds in speculative enterprises.

5. The failure of the First National Bank of Angelica, N. Y., was due to the embezzlement by its cashier of an amount nearly equal to half its capital stock. He lost the money in grain and pork speculations, and concealed the defalcation by false entries on the books. The president and directors of the bank were the victims of over confidence in this man, and seemed blind to signs of his irregularities up to the hour of his flight.

6. The City National Bank of Williamsport, Pa., was closed in consequence of a run upon it. Subsequent examination of the books revealed embezzlement by a former assistant cashier and by the cashier at the date of suspension. Suit has been brought to recover on the bond of the late cashier, and criminal proceedings against him have also been instituted.

7. The failure of the Abington National Bank of Abington, Mass., was due to overloans to its president, both directly and as endorser for irresponsible parties. In this case the creditors were paid in full, principal and interest, within sixty days after the receiver was appointed.

8. The First National Bank of Blair, Nebr., failed through trying to do too much business for its means. The assets as at present estimated should pay the creditors in full.

Lists will be found in the Appendix, showing the amount of capital, nominal assets, amounts collected, claims proved, and dividends paid in each of these cases.

ORGANIZATION, CIRCULATION, AND DISSOLUTION.

As the laws now stand a national banking association may be formed by any number (not less than five) of natural persons. The conditions are simple and reasonable, the only one appearing onerous being that which requires the bank to deposit in the Treasury United States registered bonds, bearing interest.

Before 1882 every bank was required to place and keep on deposit with the Treasurer such bonds to the amount of at least one-third of its capital, but the act of July 12, 1882, reduced this minimum requirement to one-fourth the capital of banks having not more than $150,000 capital, and to $50,000 of bonds in all other cases, however large the capital may be.

Every bank, before beginning business, is also required to deposit with the Comptroller a copy of its articles of association, a complete list of its shareholders, directors, and principal officers, all duly authenticated, and evidence that at least 50 per cent. of the capital is actually paid in. The Comptroller may, in his discretion, cause a special examination to be made in order to satisfy himself on any of these points, and he may refuse to authorize any bank to begin business if he has reason to believe that the purposes of its promoters are not in accord with those of the national banking laws. When the Comptroller issues his certificate of authority to begin business the bank is established, and is thenceforward bound to conform to all the requirements of the law governing its business, while, on the other hand, it is entitled to exercise the rights, privileges, and franchises secured to it by the statutes.

By a special provision of law banks and banking corporations having State charters may be converted into national banks, upon satisfying the Comptroller of the Currency that they are in sound financial condition, and upon complying with such of the general requirements of the law as are applicable to them. In all such cases, both of conversion and of primary association, applicants for authority to enter the national-bank system must select a title approved by the Comptroller of the Currency. The title "First National Bank" being very much sought after, some cases of contention for it have arisen, and during the past year the following general rules have been adopted to govern the concession of this title, which have obviated controversy, and have been accepted by competing applicants as entirely just.

ERRATUM.

To be pasted between pages XVIII and XIX, facing sixth paragraph,

Correction of sixth paragraph, page XVIII, OPPOSITE.

Before 1882 every bank with a capital not exceeding $150,000 was required to place and keep on deposit with the Treasurer such bonds to the amount of at least one-third of its capital; but the act of July 12, 1882, reduced this minimum requirement to one-fourth the capital. Under the act of June 20, 1874, $50,000 of bonds is the minimum requirement for all other banks, however large the capital.

RULES.

The title of "First National Bank" will not be approved unless:

1st. The application therefor is really the first application to establish a national bank in the place named in the title, or unless all such applications previously made have lapsed or been abandoned.

2d. Unless no national bank is located at the time in the place named in the title.

3d. Unless the title asked for, though once in use, is at the time vacant by reason of the entire extinction of the bank that had it.

4th. Unless every national bank at the time located in the place named in the title assents to the application. The term "place" means any ward of a city, or any town, city, county, State, or geographical area.

CONVERTED AND ORIGINAL BANKS.

Banks that have entered the national system are of two classes, viz, institutions already organized under State laws, converted to national banks under section 5154, Revised Statutes of the United States, and national banking associations primarily organized as such under various acts of Congress.

The following tables show the history of these two classes:

XXII REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

EXTENSION OF THE CORPORATE EXISTENCE OF NATIONAL BANKS.

Under the provisions of the original national currency act of February 25, 1863, 488 banks were organized, of which 88 had ceased to exist when the act of July 12, 1882, went into effect, leaving 400 still in operation at that date. Of these 400 banks 72 were succeeded by other associations with the same or different names, 12 went out by voluntary liquidation or expiration of corporate existence, 2 were placed in the hands of receivers, and 314 were extended under the act. The act of June 3, 1864, is designated "the national-bank act" in the act approved June 20, 1874. Up to July 12, 1882, there had been organized under this act 2,266 banks, of which 450 had been closed, leaving 1,816 in operation at that date.

The following table shows how many of these surviving banks will reach the term of their corporate existence during each year from 1886 to 1902, inclusive, with their capital and circulation:

On November 1, 1886, 915 banks, organized under the act of June 3, 1864, had been extended, making with the 314 extensions of banks organized under the act of February 25, 1863, 1,229 associations extended under the act of July 12, 1882. In the Appendix will be found a table showing the distribution and capital of these banks, arranged geographically.

The number, capital, and circulation of the national banks whose periods of succession terminated between November 1, 1885, and November 1, 1886, are shown by the following table, which also indicates the number of which the corporate existence has been extended. One went into liquidation and has not been succeeded by another national bank:

Of the 400 existing banks originally organized under the act of February 25, 1863, 270, with a circulation of $47,997,430, were extended on February 25, 1883, and the provisions of section 6 of the act of July 12, 1882, required that lawful money should be deposited within thirty days from February 25, 1886, to retire such portion of this circulation as then remained outstanding. It was of course evident that the amount of the final deposit required by law to be made in lawful money during the thirty days succeeding February 25, 1886, would be very large, and that this deposit within so short a period would probably occasion temporary disturbance at money centres, particularly as new circulation to replace the amount retired could not at once be issued. In anticipation of any difficulty which might arise, my predecessor, Mr. Cannon, began early to advise national banks which would be required to make such deposits of lawful money on or before March 25, 1886, to make them in sums of $10,000 or multiples thereof in advance, extending them over a considerable period of time. These banks were also advised in advance to order the preparation of notes of new design, which were required by the same section of the act, that they might be in readiness to be issued to replace the circulation necessarily retired under the operation of the law. In consequence of this forethought and sagacity, the whole amount required to be deposited was very evenly distributed between the months from July, 1885, to March, 1886, as shown by the following table:

Months.	Amount.
July, 1885	$519,690

REAPPRAISAL OF NATIONAL-BANK SHARES.

It is provided by section 5 of the act of July 12, 1882, that when any national banking association has amended its articles of association for extension of its corporate existence, and the Comptroller has granted his certificate of approval, any shareholder not assenting to such amendment may, within thirty days from the date of the certificate of approval, give notice in writing to the directors of his desire to withdraw from said association. Each shareholder giving this notice becomes entitled to receive from said banking association the value of the shares so held by him, to be ascertained by an appraisal made by a committee of three persons, one to be selected by such shareholder, one by the directors, and the third by these two; and in case the value so fixed shall not be satisfactory to any such shareholder, he may appeal to the Comptroller of the Currency, who shall cause a reappraisal to be made, which shall be final and binding.

Of the 1,229 associations extended under the act there have been but two cases in which an appeal has been made to the Comptroller for a reappraisal of shares held by dissenting shareholders. It appears, however, from complaints made to the Comptroller that in some instances the banks have neglected to take action upon notice of the desire of the shareholders to withdraw, and, as was pointed out by my predecessor, there is no penalty provided in the law for such neglect, although individual rights are thereby violated. Remedy may doubtless be obtained by suit at law, but it would seem that justice demands speedier and less costly relief.

NATIONAL-BANK SHAREHOLDERS.

With a view to ascertaining how the stock of the national banks is distributed, a laborious examination has been made of the official lists of shareholders, deposited in this office in accordance with section 5210, Revised Statutes of the United States.

The results of this examination, carefully compiled, are exhibited in the following tables, and, for purposes of comparison, similar tables contained in the report of the Comptroller of the Currency for the year 1876 are here reproduced.

Upon an examination it will be seen that the capital stock of the 2,868 national banks now existing is represented by 7,116,894 shares, and that of these 6,426,320, or over 90 per cent., are held by residents of the State in which the bank is located, and 690,574, or less than 10 per cent., by non-residents. In 1876 less than 90 per cent. of the stock was held by residents.

The number of shares held by natural persons is 6,524,143, or over 91 per cent., while the remainder are held as follows: 82,694 shares by religious, charitable, and educational institutions; 6,188 by municipal corporations; 496,993 by savings banks, trust companies, and insurance companies, and 12,897 by all other corporations.

The number of shareholders in national banks is 223,583, of which number 215,876, or over 96 per cent., are natural persons, while more than 38½ per cent. of all the stockholders are residents of the State in which the bank is located.

Of the 223,583 shareholders, 117,974, being more than half, hold ten shares or less, 78,781, or about a third, hold over ten shares but less than fifty, while those holding over fifty shares number only 26,828, or but little more than one-ninth of the whole.

The details as to State and geographical divisions will doubtless be found interesting and suggestive.

Among other things, it will be perceived that out of 82,000 shares held by religious, charitable, and educational institutions, upward of 40,000 are held in New England and 40,000 more in the Middle States. In the same way, out of 496,993 shares held by savings banks, trust companies, and insurance companies, nearly 478,000 shares are held north and east of the District of Columbia.

Geographical divisions Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 contain 1,600 banks, with $225,000,000 capital, and in all this great area the national-bank stock is held almost exclusively by natural persons.

Out of 7,704 corporations of all kinds appearing as national-bank stockholders, only 602 hold stock in banks anywhere in these six divisions.

Another observation to be drawn from these tables is that in those States in which the older banks are situated the stock is more largely held by residents, and is more widely distributed, while in the area in which nearly all the banks are of recent organization, the proportion of non-resident shareholders is larger, and the amount of stock held in large amounts is greater. This shows the very important and significant fact that the national-bank system is serving to bring capital into those new districts from the older States, and in this way it is a constant and valuable factor in the process by which American industry and enterprise are being extended all over the continent, and by which the ties of a common citizenship are being daily strengthened by the bonds of commercial intercourse and of interdependent interests.

The total number of shares exceeds one for every $100 of capital, which is accounted for by the fact that a large number of the banks converted from State institutions have availed themselves of the privilege of retaining their shares at their original par value. (See section 5154, Revised Statutes.)

CIRCULATING NOTES.

Upon the security of its bonds deposited with the Treasurer, each bank is entitled to receive, and the Comptroller of the Currency is by law required to issue to it, circulating notes to the amount of 90 per cent. of the market value, and not more than 90 per cent. of the par value of the bonds. Any bank may deposit more than the minimum of bonds, and may take out circulating notes for 90 per cent. of its deposit, provided its entire outstanding circulation against bonds does not exceed 90 per cent. of its capital stock actually paid in. The circulating notes when issued by the Comptroller are in sheets, and are not valid until signed by the bank officers designated by the statute.

Under the present law the minimum deposit of bonds required to be made by the 2,852 national banks in operation in the United States on October 7, 1886, in order to continue as national banking associations, would be but $84,365,312.

Tables in the Appendix show by States and geographical divisions the national banks in operation on October 7, 1886, separated into two classes, namely, banks of which the capital does not exceed, and banks of which the capital exceeds, $150,000. The first class contains 2,001 banks, with an aggregate capital of $167,261,245; the second 851, with an aggregate capital of $380,979,485. The minimum of bonds required to be kept on deposit by the entire body of banks in the first class is $41,815,312; the minimum for the 851 banks of the second class is $42,550,000. If all banks held only the minimum of bonds, the total national-bank circulation would be $75,928,781, while the possible maximum of circulation, being 90 per cent. of the aggregate of the national-bank capital, would be $493,416,657. The actual circulation on October 7, 1886, was $303,176,776, inclusive of $71,953,145 still outstanding, but which is no longer represented by bonds, but by that amount of lawful money deposited with the Treasurer of the United States to redeem it. The $231,223,631 of circulation for which the banks are responsible is composed of $86,517,585 secured by the bonds deposited by the 2,001 banks having $150,000 capital and less, and $144,706,046 secured by the bonds belonging to the 851 banks of which the capital exceeds $150,000. The first class of banks have therefore $48,883,805 more than their minimum, and $64,017,536 less than their possible maximum circulation, while the larger banks have $106,411,046 more than their minimum, and $198,175,491 less than their maximum.

The following table shows the number of banks organized from July 1, 1882, to July 1, 1886, their capital stock, amount of bonds deposited, and the circulation issued thereon:

From the foregoing table it appears that 774 banks have been organized between the dates given, with a capital of $79,254,300; that they have deposited $18,840,800 bonds, upon which circulation to the amount of $16,956,720 has been issued. The minimum deposit of bonds as required by law for such banks is $15,637,250, and it will be observed that while the actual deposit has in the aggregate exceeded the minimum absolutely required, yet this excess steadily decreased during the first three years covered by the table, and during the years ending July 1, 1885, and July 1, 1886, the percentage of excess remained the same, namely, 8 per cent. Of the 163 national banks organized during the past fiscal year, 96 have a capital of $50,000 each, amounting to $4,800,000; 44 have a capital of over $50,000 and not exceeding $150,000, amounting to $4,218,000; and 23 have a capital of $8,535,000. The latter class of banks deposited only $100,000 of bonds in excess of the minimum required by law.

Tables have been prepared, and will be found in the Appendix, showing for the national banks in each State, Territory, and reserve city the minimum amount of bonds required by law, the bonds actually held, and the circulation issued thereon and outstanding October 7, 1886; also all other information deemed useful, as to circulation.

Banks are privileged to change their deposited bonds from time to time, to increase and to reduce the amount, within limits, and are required to inspect once a year, the bonds held for them in trust by the Treasurer. The Comptroller of the Currency is the agent and medium of all such changes, his indorsement on the bonds establishes their ownership and alone validates their transfer. Section 5163 of the Revised Statutes requires him to record every act of deposit, transfer, and withdrawal, and to keep a set of books for the purpose.

INTEREST-BEARING FUNDED DEBT OF THE UNITED STATES, AND THE AMOUNT HELD BY NATIONAL BANKS.

The connection between the banks and the distribution of the funded debt of the United States renders the following statement appropriate.

The public debt, at its maximum on August 31, 1865, amounted to $2,844,649,626; of which, obligations not bearing interest amounted to $461,616,311, leaving $2,383,033,315, carrying an average rate of interest of about 6.33 per cent. On November 1, 1886, the interest-bearing debt amounted to $1,153,443,112.

Pacific sixes amounting to $64,623,512, the Navy pension fund, amounting to $14,000,000 in 3 per cents, the interest upon which is applied to the payment of naval pensions exclusively, and $194,500 of refunding certificates are not included in the table.

On November 1, 1885, there were $194,190,500 3-per cent. bonds outstanding. During the year ending November 1, 1886, $127,283,100 of these bonds were called for payment, and $2,664,850 of uncalled bonds were redeemed, having been voluntarily surrendered under Treasury Department circulars dated August 30, 1886, and September 15, 1886.

Of the called bonds $95,675,600 have been redeemed, making a total redemption of $98,340,450.

These changes in the debt have induced corresponding changes in the amount of bonds held by the national banks. In January, 1866, 1,582 banks, with a capital of $403,000,000, held $410,000,000 of United States bonds. On October 7, 1886, 2,852 banks, with a capital of $548,000,000, held only about $291,000,000 of bonds. The total bank circulation on January 1, 1866, was $213,000,000, and on October 7, 1886, that which was secured by bonds was about $228,000,000.

The amount and classes of United States bonds owned by the banks, including those pledged as security for circulation and for public deposits, on the 1st day of July in each year since 1865, and upon November 1 of the present year, are exhibited in the following table :

SECURITY FOR CIRCULATING NOTES.

The following table shows the authorizing act for each class of bonds held by the Treasurer as security for the circulating notes of the national banks on the 1st day of November, 1886, and a comparison as to the holdings during the years ending November 1, 1885, and November 1, 1886:

Class of bonds.	Authorizing act.	Rate of interest.	Amount 1885.	Amount 1886.
Funded loan of 1891.....	July 14, 1870, and January 20, 1871.	Per cent.
Funded loan of 1907.....	do. ....	4½	$49,547,250	$57,453,850
Funded loan of July 12, 1882.....	July 12, 1882 .....	4	116,391,650	115,383,150
Pacific Railroad bonds.....	July 1, 1862, and July 2, 1864.....	3	138,920,650	69,688,070
		6	3,505,000	3,586,000
Total.....			308,364,550	245,444,050

It will be seen that the average rate of interest now paid by the United States on the bonds deposited as security for circulating notes is nearly 3.9 per cent. upon their par value, while, owing to the high premiums commanded by all but the rapidly diminishing 3-per cent. bonds, the banks are receiving only 2.41 per cent. per annum upon the present market value of their aggregate bond investments.

XXXIV REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

By reference to the table it will be seen that, notwithstanding the fact that 174 new banks were organized during the past year, with a capital of $21,358,000, depositing $3,713,500 of bonds as security for circulating notes, the aggregate of bonds on deposit for that purpose has diminished from $308,364,550 to $245,444,050, a net reduction of bonds, as the result of deposits and withdrawals, during the year ending November 1, 1886, of $62,920,500. The changes were as follows: An increase of $81,000 in Pacific currency sixes, and of $7,889,600 in the amount of 4½ percents; a reduction of $1,008,500 in the amount of 4 percents, and of $69,882,600 in the amount of 3 percents, which are payable at the option of the Government.

The following tables show the decrease of national-bank circulation during the years ending November 1, 1884, November 1, 1885, November 1, 1886, and the amount of lawful money on deposit at each of the dates named:

The following table shows to what extent banks organized during the past five years have availed themselves of the privilege of issuing circulation by depositing bonds in excess of the minimum amount of bonds which the law obliges them to keep on hand.

DISSOLUTION.

Since the establishment of the national banking system on February 25, 1863, there have been organized 3,580 national banks. Of these 456 have gone into voluntary liquidation for the purpose of winding up their affairs; 79 have gone into voluntary liquidation for the purpose of reorganization; 65 are in liquidation by expiration of charter, of which number 38 have been reorganized, and 112 have been placed in the hands of receivers for the purpose of closing up their affairs; leaving the total number in existence 2,868 on November 1, 1886.

The corporate existence of 31 national banks expired during the year ending November 1, 1886; 30 of them have been extended under the act of July 12, 1882, and one is in liquidation under section 7 of said act.

The corporate existence of one national bank with a capital of $150,000 will expire during December of this year, and the corporate existence of five national banks with an aggregate capital of $1,050,000 will expire during the year 1887.

There were eight failures of national banks during the year ending November 1, 1886, as against four during the previous year, and, as has been seen, in two cases the creditors were paid in full, principal and interest, two banks have paid 50 per cent., one 75 per cent., and one 20 per cent.

The affairs of eight failed banks have been closed during the past year, and final dividends have been paid to their creditors. These banks, with the total dividends paid in each case, are given below.

The City National Bank of Lawrenceburgh, Ind., one of the banks closed during the year, went into voluntary liquidation on August 13, 1883. The officers of the bank were large debtors to it, and turned over property enough to pay the creditors in full; but these officers were indebted to outside parties, who, while the bank was in process of liquidation, brought suit against them, and were declared judgment creditors of the bank for the value of certain property turned over to it. Pending this decision the creditors of the bank had been paid amounts ranging from 25 to 100 per cent. of their claims. The decision of the court rendered the bank hopelessly insolvent, and a receiver was appointed by the Comptroller on March 11, 1884. The receivership became involved in considerable litigation, and when most of the assets had been realized the question was raised by one of the largest creditors of the bank, who had already received 50 per cent. on his claim, as to the date from which dividends to the creditors should be computed, namely, whether it should be the date of liquidation, August 13, 1883, or the date of the appointment of the receiver, March 11, 1884. This question was brought into court, and it was decided that the claims of creditors should be leveled up as from the date of liquidation. In accordance with this decision dividends amounting to 81.1 per cent. were paid to creditors, those who had received more than that while the bank was in liquidation receiving nothing, and those who had received less being paid such amount as would make 81.1 per cent. on the principal of their claims.

A number of banks still remain in the hands of receivers, the affairs of which have been completely liquidated, with the exception of some matters in litigation and pending in the courts. This fact has delayed the final closing of such associations. When the affairs of insolvent banks are in this condition, receivers are not as a rule paid salaries, it

Out of 3,580 national banks organized since February, 1863, only 112, or about 3 per cent., have been placed in the hands of receivers. Of these 112, 38 have paid their creditors in full, while 20 have besides paid interest, 15 in full and 5 in part.

Of the banks which have been placed in the hands of receivers, 9 had been previously placed in liquidation by their stockholders, but, failing to pay their depositors, receivers were afterward appointed by the Comptroller to wind up their affairs; 78 have been finally closed, leaving 34 in process of settlement, of which, as has been seen, 9 are virtually closed with the exception of pending litigation, leaving 25 receiverships only in active operation.

The total amount so far paid to creditors of insolvent national banks has been $27,299,108, upon proved claims amounting to $44,211,338. The amount paid during the year has been $1,647,718.35, which includes $30,047.11 which was paid on additional claims proved against other banks and in payment of dividends declared prior to November 1, 1885. Assessments amounting to $9,862,750 have been made upon stockholders of the insolvent national banks to enforce their individual liability under section 5151 of the Revised Statutes of the United States. From this source $4,045,808 has been collected, $63,181 of this amount during the past year, and some suits are still pending.

It will be observed that the collections from stockholders of insolvent banks amount to only about 41 per cent. of the assessments, showing how illusory this form of security is. The cost of the litigation attending such collections cannot be made up in time for this report, but it has been very great, and the litigation itself has an injurious moral influence.

A table showing the number and denomination of national-bank notes issued and redeemed, and the number of each denomination outstanding on November 1, for the last thirteen years, will be found in the Appendix.

The incomplete currency issued to banks in replacement of notes redeemed and destroyed under the provisions of the act of June 20, 1874, is kept distinct from issues to new banks, to banks increasing the volume of their circulation by adding to the amount of bonds deposited, and to banks taking out new circulation upon an extension of their corporate existence under the act of July 12, 1882. The notes issued in these three cases have been designated on the books of this office and in previous reports, "additional circulation."

Notes of gold banks are not included in the above table.

Of the above $15,488,203 issued this year, $2,900,550 was issued to banks organized during the year, $10,750,103 under act of July 12, 1882, and $1,837,550 to already existing banks increasing their circulation.

ISSUES.

The total issues of incomplete currency during the year are shown by the vault account, as follows:

National-bank currency in vaults October 31, 1885.....	$78,601,550
Amount received from Bureau of Engraving and Printing during the year ending October 31, 1886 .....	46,872,850
Total .....	125,474,400
Amount issued to banks during the year.....	$62,026,940
Amount canceled during the year, not having been issued. ....	960,800
	<hr/> 62,987,740
Balance in vaults .....	$62,486,660

The duties devolving upon the clerical force in the Division of Issue of this office are of great responsibility, requiring absolute accuracy and promptness on the part of those to whom these duties are assigned. The records of receipts and issues are balanced daily with the vault accounts, and the work of each day completed before that of another day is begun. During the past year 42,478 packages of currency were forwarded to banks by express, the same number of receipts prepared for signature and return by the banks, and a large amount of correspondence was conducted.

REDEMPTION.

Prior to the act of June 20, 1874, national banks were required to redeem their circulating notes, either at their own counters or through redemption agents in certain designated cities.

That act abolished redemption agencies, made the circulation redeemable only at the banks of issue and at the Treasury in Washington, and required the banks to keep on deposit at the Treasury a redemption fund of 5 per cent. upon outstanding circulation.

Under the operation of this law the redemption agency at the Treasury has received, up to November 1, 1886, $1,711,850,786 of national-bank currency.

During the past year the receipts amounted to $117,485,048, of which amount $44,755,800, or 33 per cent., was received from the banks in the city of New York, and $25,042,300, or 21 per cent., from banks in the city of Boston. The amount received from Philadelphia was $7,232,500, from Chicago $6,256,600, from Cincinnati $1,886,400, from Saint Louis $3,533,300, from Baltimore $3,662,100, from Providence $1,309,500, from New Orleans $1,193,400, and from Pittsburgh $491,500.

The amount of national-bank notes fit for circulation returned by the redemption agency to the banks of issue during the year was $41,180,010. The amount received by the Comptroller of the Currency for destruction, from the agency and from the banks direct, was $47,154,430, and on account of reducing, insolvent, and liquidating banks, $28,865,577.

The act of June 20, 1874, provided that any national banking association might withdraw its circulating notes upon the deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than $9,000. Under this act, and on account of liquidating and insolvent banks, and under the act of July 12, 1882, which provides for a deposit of lawful money to retire the old circulation of national banks whose corporate existence has been extended, $310,495,460 of lawful money has been deposited with the Treasurer. This includes $2,663,720 for redemption of the notes of national gold banks, and $52,253,177 for the redemption of national-bank notes under section 6 of the act of July 12, 1882.

During the year ending November 1, 1886, lawful money to the amount of $71,148,392 was deposited with the Treasurer to retire circulation, of which $2,201,310 was deposited by banks in liquidation, $30,819,725 by banks reducing circulation under the act of June 20, 1874, and $38,127,357 by banks retiring old circulation under the act of July 12, 1882. The amount previously deposited under the acts of June 20, 1874, and July 12, 1882, was $191,516,297; by banks in liquidation, $62,075,581; making a total of $324,740,270. Deducting from the total the amount of circulating notes redeemed and destroyed without reissue, which was $242,921,036, there remained in the hands of the Treasurer on November 1, 1886, $81,819,233 of lawful money for the redemption and retirement of national-bank circulation, including $296,069 for the redemption of the circulating notes of national gold banks.

Prior to June 20, 1874, there were redeemed and destroyed $10,431,135, and since that date $232,489,901 of bank notes have been redeemed, destroyed, and retired. This latter amount includes $2,367,651 of the notes of national gold banks and $15,414,458 of the notes of national banks whose corporate existence has been extended under the act of July 12, 1882.

There are at present no national gold banks in existence. Of those which had been organized three went into voluntary liquidation, and the others became currency banks, under the provisions of the act approved February 14, 1880.

The following table exhibits the amount of national-bank notes received monthly for redemption by the Comptroller of the Currency during the year ending October 31, 1886, and the amount received during the same period at the redemption agency of the Treasury, together with the total amount received since the passage of the act of June 20, 1874: *

The work in this division, in handling this vast amount of mutilated notes, requires great accuracy, skill and precision.

In connection with this subject I respectfully present a series of tables, for which I am indebted to Mr. E. B. Elliott, Government actuary, whose widely-extended reputation is a guarantee for their accuracy. They are intended to show, as fully as the data permit, how long, on the average, the national-bank notes of the several denominations remain out.

DURATION OF NATIONAL-BANK CIRCULATION.

The tables herewith presented show the average length of time that has elapsed from the date when the notes of each of the several denominations were issued to the banks by the Comptroller of the Currency up to the date when they were redeemed and destroyed. This includes whatever time may have passed in each case between transmission to banks and entrance into actual circulation—a variable and unobtainable period.

During the early part of this investigation (in August, 1886) an estimate* of the average duration of the circulation of the notes of the several denominations issued to the national banks was arrived at by assuming, in the absence of detailed information on this point, that the issues of each denomination were distributed uniformly during the four years and the redemptions in like manner during the three years prior to November 1, 1868.

* This provisional estimate appeared in the Report of the Convention of the American Bankers' Association held at Boston, Mass., August 11 and 12, 1886.

XLIV REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

It has since been ascertained that both the issues and the redemptions commenced one year earlier than had been assumed, and accordingly, in the accompanying tables, the issues and redemptions of the notes of each denomination are distributed for each year prior to November 1, 1868, on the basis of the entire amount of such circulation during those years, as is shown in the second table.

*Statement showing the Amounts of national-bank currency issued and redeemed during each year ending October 31, and the Amount Outstanding at the close of each year from the establishment of the national banking system in 1863 to November 1, 1885;* also the calculated aggregate and average number of life-years experienced when redeemed.*

* Compiled from records in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

It will be seen that $314,894,918 were still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the $1,385,134,534 issued was 6,498,875,688 (that is, 6,813,770,606 less 314,894,918), and the average number was 6,498,875,688 divided by 1,385,134,534, or 4.692 years. But this result is obviously somewhat smaller than the full life-time of the dollars issued, because there were $314,894,918 outstanding and still to be redeemed.

If, however, this amount be assumed to be redeemed in 4.692 equal annual instalments, that is, at the rate of $67,113,154 per annum—which does not seem unreasonable—the aggregate full life-time of the total amount issued ($1,385,134,534) would be 7,087,323,820 years, showing an average full life-time of about 5.117 years.

From the foregoing table it will be seen that the earliest issues of national-bank notes were made during the year ended October 31, 1864, and the earliest redemptions of such notes during the year ended October 31, 1865; but as there are no accessible data showing how many notes of each denomination were issued and redeemed annually prior to November 1, 1868, the annual issues and redemptions during that period, as given hereafter in the tables relating to each denomination, are assumed to have been made on the basis of the ascertained amounts of the total issues and redemptions during each of those years, these totals embracing all denominations.

XLVI REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

It will be seen that there were 435,714 one-dollar notes still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the 23,167,677 notes issued was 99,162,086 (that is, 99,597,800 less 435,714), and the average number was 99,162,086 divided by 23,167,677, or 4.280 years. But this result is obviously somewhat smaller than the full life-time of the notes issued, because there were 435,714 notes outstanding and still to be redeemed.

If, however, these notes are assumed to be redeemed in 4.280 equal annual instalments, that is, at the rate of 101,802 notes per annum—which does not seem unreasonable—the aggregate full life-time of the 23,167,677 notes issued would be 99,886,922 years, showing an average full life-time of about 4.311 years.

Statement showing the number of national-bank notes of the denomination of Two Dollars issued and redeemed during each year ending October 31, and the number of such notes outstanding at the close of each year from the establishment of the system in 1863 to November 1, 1885; also the calculated aggregate and average number of life-years experienced by the notes when redeemed.

October 31, 1884		36,282	144,234
Total	7,747,519	7,628,877	34,832,742

It will be seen that there were 118,642 two-dollar notes still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the 7,747,519 notes issued was 34,714,100 (that is, 34,832,742 less 118,642), and the average number was 34,714,100 divided by 7,747,519, or 4.451 years. But this result is obviously somewhat smaller than the full life-time of the notes issued, because there were 118,642 notes outstanding and still to be redeemed.

If, however, these notes are assumed to be redeemed in 4.481 equal annual instalments, that is, at the rate of 26,477 notes per annum—which does not seem unreasonable—the aggregate full life-time of the 7,747,519 notes issued would be 34,923,898 years, showing an average full life-time of about 4.508 years.

It will be seen that there were 16,391,334 five-dollar notes still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the 93,208,400 notes issued, was 428,179,430 (that is, 444,570,764 less 16,391,334), and the average number was 428,179,430 divided by 93,208,400, or 4.594 years. But this result is obviously somewhat smaller than the full life-time of the notes issued, because there were 16,391,334 notes outstanding and still to be redeemed. If, however, these notes are assumed to be redeemed in 4.594 equal annual installments, that is, at the rate of 3,567,987 notes per annum—which does not seem unreasonable—the aggregate full life-time of the 93,208,400 notes issued would be 458,064,896 years, showing an average full life-time of about 4.914 years.

It will be seen that there were 10,421,129 ten-dollar notes still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the 39,804,001 notes issued was 192,512,667 (that is, 202,933,796 less 10,421,129), and the average number was 192,512,667 divided by 39,804,001, or 4.837 years. But this result is obviously somewhat smaller than the full life-time of the notes issued, because there were 10,421,129 notes outstanding and still to be redeemed. It will be seen that there were 3,754,376 twenty-dollar notes still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the 12,318,173 notes issued was 59,234,899 (that is, 62,989,275 less 3,754,376), and the average number was 59,234,899 divided by 12,318,173, or 4.809 years. It will be seen that there were 131 one-thousand-dollar notes still outstanding and unredeemed at the close of the period. Accordingly, the aggregate number of life-years already experienced by the 7,369 notes issued was 24,081 (that is, 24,212 less 131), and the average number was 24,081 divided by 7,369, or 3.268 years. But this result is obviously somewhat smaller than the full life-time of the notes issued, because there were 131 notes outstanding and still to be redeemed. If, however, these notes are assumed to be redeemed in 3.268 equal annual instalments, that is, at the rate of 40 notes per annum—which does not seem unreasonable—the aggregate full life-time of the 7,369 notes would be 24,234 years, showing an average full life-time of about 3.289 years.

REPORTS.

The law imposes upon the Comptroller of the Currency the duty of exercising a supervision over the national banks, and to that end requires him to exact reports from them as to their condition on at least five days in each year, and reports of the dividends and earnings of each bank as often as it declares dividends, and in all cases at least every six months.

In addition, the Comptroller may call for special reports from any or from all of the banks as often as he thinks proper, and may from time to time cause examinations to be made into their books, cash, securities, and general condition.

The proper performance of the duty of supervision is essential to the maintenance of the high character and credit to which the national banks have attained, as well as to the protection of their depositors and stockholders against fraud and mismanagement.

The multiplication of banks, and the wide area over which the system now extends, renders the discharge of these duties more and more difficult every year, and requires the maintenance of a large force of expert clerks in the office of the Comptroller.

The duties of national-bank examiners have also become more exacting and more difficult in consequence of the expansion of the business of these banks.

These statements will doubtless be accepted when it is considered that in the past five years the number of banks has increased from 2,132 to 2,852, reporting October 7, 1886, while the aggregate of their loans and discounts has risen from $1,173,800,000 to $1,443,665,000.

It is of the highest importance to the banks themselves, as well as to the public, that the examiners should be expert, vigilant, and trustworthy, and that the examinations should be frequent and unexpected.

While the examiners now employed are generally competent, and many of them are excellent, yet in some cases the territory to be covered is too large, and the pay too small, to secure the best men for the work.

I have elsewhere made some recommendations on this subject.

During the past year 14,010 reports of condition, about 6,000 reports of dividends and earnings, and 2,930 reports from examiners have been received at the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, and fully 6,000 letters and circulars have been sent out in connection with them. The reports received are all carefully examined, compared with one another, and abstracts are made from them. The work in this division of the office is continuous and exacting.

From these various reports, after examination and verification, the subjoined tables have been compiled, and other tables compiled from the same sources will be found in the Appendix showing the condition of the reserve of national banks, their loans and discounts, abstract of reports of dividends and earnings, ratios to capital and to capital and surplus, and other valuable information as to the condition of the national banks on the date of the last report.

A large table on folded sheet, appended hereto, exhibits for October 7, 1886, in aggregate every detail embraced in the tabulated reports required of the banks. Similar tables are made up for the information of the Comptroller from the reports gathered from all banks five times each year. The amounts are given separately for each State, reserve city, and Territory.

DIAGRAM.

The diagram accompanying this report exhibits in a very striking manner the main features of the national banking system, and how each has varied during the twenty-one years since the peace of the country has been re-established.

On the 1st of January, 1866, there were 1,582 national banks; on the 7th of October, 1886, there were 2,852—a net increase in number alone of 1,270.

The following table groups in a compendious form the most important facts shown in the diagram:

	January 1, 1866.	October 7, 1886.	Highest point touched.		Lowest point touched.
			Amount.	Date.	Amount.	Date.
Capital .....	$403,000,000	$543,000,000	$543,000,000	Oct. 7, 1886	$403,000,000	Jan. 1, 1866
Capital, surplus, and undivided profits .....	475,000,000	772,000,000	772,000,000	Oct. 7, 1886	475,000,000	Jan. 1, 1866
Circulation .....	213,000,000	228,000,000	341,000,000	Dec. 26, 1873	213,000,000	Jan. 1, 1866
Total investments in United States bonds ..	440,000,000	291,000,000	712,000,000	Apr. 4, 1879	291,000,000	Oct. 7, 1886
Deposits .....	522,000,000	1,173,000,000	1,173,000,000	Oct. 7, 1886	501,000,000	Oct. 8, 1870
Loans and discounts ..	500,000,000	1,443,000,000	1,443,000,000	Oct. 7, 1886	500,000,000	Jan. 1, 1866
Cash:
National-bank notes ..	20,000,000	23,000,000	28,000,000	Dec. 31, 1883	11,000,000	Oct. 7, 1867
Legal-tender notes...	187,000,000	63,000,000	205,000,000	Oct. 1, 1866	50,000,000	Mar. 11, 1882
Specie .....	19,000,000	156,000,000	177,000,000	July 1, 1885	8,000,000	Oct. 1, 1875

An examination of this table shows that the aggregate capital, surplus, undivided profits, circulation, and deposits have increased from $1,210,000,000 in January, 1866, to $2,173,000,000 in October, 1886, which is less than double, while the loans and discounts have gone up from $500,000,000 to $1,443,000,000, which is nearly treble, showing how much more widely the banks are now identified with the general business of the country than they were twenty-one years ago.

The investments in bonds have taken an opposite course. Amounting to $440,000,000 in 1866, increasing to $712,000,000 in April, 1879, they had subsided by 7th October last to $291,000,000, but little more than half what they were in 1866, and scarcely over a third of what they momentarily amounted to in 1879.

The specie, which at the beginning of the period was but $19,000,000, had got down in October, 1875, to $8,000,000, is now $156,000,000, and in July, 1885, was $177,000,000.

It is interesting to see how these changes appear when reduced to percentages.

The capital, surplus, undivided profits, circulation, and deposits constitute together the fund upon which a bank does its business.

Loans and discounts, United States bonds, specie, &c., are different forms in which this fund is invested. Taking the fund at $1,210,000,000 in 1866 and at $2,173,000,000 in 1886, these investments represent the following proportions of those amounts, viz:

	1866.	1886.
Loans and discounts .....	41.32	66.40
United States bonds .....	36.36	13.39
Specie .....	1.57	7.18
Total .....	79.25	86.97

Another striking fact is that in 1866 the circulation was $213,000,000 and in 1886 it is only $228,000,000. At the former period, therefore, the circulation was nearly 45 per cent. of the capital, surplus, and undivided profits, while now it is only about 29 per cent.

LOANS.

* All in cash.

† Reserve 25 per cent., one-half in cash.

‡ Reserve 15 per cent., two-fifths in cash in bank.

LVIII REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

Upon examining the foregoing table it will be found that, except in 1884 and 1885, the percentage of reserve in New York was less than in the other reserve cities, while the banks outside of reserve cities which are required to keep but 15 per cent. have never fallen below 27.2, and have averaged over 31 per cent., which is more than double the legal requirement.

These latter banks are allowed to keep three-fifths of their reserve with their correspondents in reserve cities; but, in fact, for the first four years of the eleven they held the entire amount in their own vaults, and the average so held for the entire period is 98 per cent.

It would appear, therefore, that the privilege of keeping a part of the reserve elsewhere than in the bank is one but little availed of in practice among the banks generally, and this fact supports the recommendation elsewhere made to modify the present law.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE NEW YORK CLEARING-HOUSE.

The New York Clearing-House Association is composed of 64 members, of which 45 are national banks, 18 are State banks, and the other member is the assistant treasurer of the United States at New York. One national bank and nine State banks in the city do not belong to the association, but clear through members. Mr. W. A. Camp, the manager of the association, has kindly supplied the data for the following tables, showing the transactions during the year ending October 1, 1886:

* When the Government ceased issuing gold certificates, December 1, 1878, the New York banks agreed to have a common depository for their gold coin, and in that way retain the use of certificates at the clearing-house. This has been found convenient and saves the expense and cost of moving large amounts in specie. The Bank of America performs this function.

† Clearing-house loan certificates were issued by the New York Clearing-House Association, in pursuance of resolution adopted May 15, 1884, to banks who were members, upon their securities or bills receivable, at the rate of 75 cents on the dollar. The total amount issued was $24,915,000, and the balance outstanding was canceled and redeemed during the present year.

Following is a comparative statement of transactions of the New York Clearing-House for thirty-three years; showing for each year the number of banks, aggregate capital, clearings and balances, average of the daily clearings and balances, and the percentage of balances and clearings:

TAXES UPON NATIONAL BANKS.

National banks are subject to a semi-annual duty of one-half of 1 per cent. upon the average amount of their notes in circulation during the preceding six months. They are also required, by the act of June 20, 1874, to pay the cost of the redemption of their notes at the office of the Treasurer of the United States at Washington, and the cost of the plates from which their notes are printed. Banks extending their corporate existence have to pay for new plates. Previously to the act of June 20, 1874, the expense of the plates had been paid out of the tax on the banks, which at that time attached to capital and deposits as well as to circulation.

The banks are further required to pay the fees of the examiners employed to ascertain their condition, under section 5240, Revised Statutes of the United States.

The taxes and assessments collected during the past year were as follows:

Semi-annual duty on circulation.....	$2,592,021 33
Cost of redemption of notes by United States Treasurer.....	168,243 35
Assessments for cost of plates, new banks.....	14,810 00
Assessments for cost of plates, extended banks.....	24,825 00
Assessments for examiners' fees, sec. 5240, R. S.....	107,272 83

REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY. LXV

It has not been customary heretofore to include assessments with taxes, but it seems proper to do so.

The following tables are brought forward from previous reports. For the sake of uniformity the only addition made is the semi-annual duty on circulation during the past year:

STATE TAXATION OF NATIONAL BANKS.

There has been for some years more or less friction arising out of the mode of assessing and collecting taxes on national-bank shares in some of the States.

The subject has been frequently and fully treated by my predecessors, and therefore in renewing it I need say only that as Congress obviously intended to protect the national banks from discriminative taxation, it would seem proper that force be given to this purpose by its more definite expression in the law.

In consequence of different constructions placed by taxing officers upon the existing statute, litigation of a costly and more or less irritating character has arisen in States which together contain nearly one-half of all the national-bank capital in the Union.

CONCLUSION.

In selecting the information presented in this report, I have endeavored to exhibit the practical working of the present national currency and bank laws, and I have also had in view the importance of supplying material for a full understanding of the relations between the national banks and the general business of the country, in order to explain the widely prevalent desire among business men for some legislation directed to the establishment of these banks upon a more permanent basis.

The national banking system had its origin during the war, and it will always stand splendid in history as an example of financial skill successful under very difficult circumstances.

The problem in 1863 was how to bring the banking capital of the country to the support of the Treasury, and it cannot be doubted that the banks then had it in their power to exact from the Government concessions far more valuable than those granted them. Even these moderate concessions have long since lost all the elements of monopoly, and the act of June 20, 1874, actually took away $55,000,000 of circulation, partly from banks organized during the war, in order to give the privilege of issuing that sum to banks in States that were cut off by the war from access to the national banking system; a measure entitled to honorable consideration, because at that time those States were without sufficient political influence to exact a share in this valuable privilege, and the then existing banks were strong enough to have made a successful resistance if they had been selfishly inclined.

The last vestige of monopoly was swept away by the act of January 14, 1875, which created a free banking system throughout the United States, and, supplemented by the act of July 12, 1882, brought its benefits within reach of even small communities.

Under the sanction of these laws the national banks have become numerous, widely distributed, and intimately identified with the varied industries by which our entire population literally obtain their daily bread, but during the same time the rapid reduction of the funded debt of the Government has been introducing into the very basis of the system an element of instability which now hampers its extension, impairs its usefulness, and even threatens its continued existence, while there are still great areas of our country in which the natural resources are awaiting development by just such means as these banks might be made to supply.

The present financial prospects of the country induce the expectation that the funded debt will be paid off as fast as the bonds mature, and, in consequence, a question has arisen as to what changes should be made in the national-bank system in order that it shall not suffer deterioration or destruction upon the withdrawal of the support upon which it is based by the present laws, which require every bank before beginning business to deposit a certain amount in United States bonds.

The payment of the 3-per cent. bonds, the maturity in 1891 of the  $4\frac{1}{2}$ -per cent. bonds, amounting to \$250,000,000, and in 1907 of the 4-per cent. bonds, amounting to nearly \$738,000,000, have combined to produce a prospective scarcity in the securities available to the banks as a basis for their corporate existence, and this is reflected in the advance of these bonds to a premium so high that every day their enforced purchase becomes more and more onerous.

Banks now holding only 3-per cent. bonds, and newly organized national banking associations, are forced into the market as purchasers of the 4 per cent. or the  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. bonds, and this constant demand, in connection with the prospective scarcity already referred to, sustains and tends still further to elevate the premium on these bonds.

As the time approaches for the payment of the  $4\frac{1}{2}$ -per cent. bonds, it is reasonable to expect a still greater demand for the 4 percents, and it is a question of serious importance whether the banks can afford to hold or to buy 4 per cent. bonds after 1891.

In the present age all business men try to anticipate future conditions and to provide well in advance against foreseen contingencies; hence it is to be expected that the banks will not wait until the approach of 1891 to shape their policy with reference to the continued holding of high-priced bonds. For this reason it is not too early now to consider what legislation may be proper to remove this element of future uncertainty from the national banking system, and looking to the possible consideration of this subject by Congress, I respectfully submit the following statement of the question as it appears from the point of view officially occupied by the Comptroller of the Currency:

The fundamental postulates underlying every banking system established by law, whatever may be its form, must necessarily be:

First. That banks promote the general welfare of the community; and Secondly. That the particular system established by law is the best obtainable under the conditions prevailing at the time and place.

These postulates, therefore, underlie our national banking laws.

The first postulate will not be questioned, since no people in modern times have ever risen to civilization, or maintained their civilization, without banks; and least of all can it be questioned in this country where, besides 2,868 national banks now in operation, we have over 5,000 State banks, savings banks, and private banks and bankers, whose operations extend into the minutest ramifications of the employments and resources of our 60,000,000 of population.

The second postulate involves the question, whether the present national-bank system should be preserved, and, if so, whether it is good enough as it is or whether it can be improved.

The National Currency Act of February 12, 1863, was controlled as to its purposes by the paramount necessity of inducing the banks and other capitalists to become purchasers of Government bonds under conditions that would give a basis of solid value to the currency then being paid out in immense volume under the pressure of military exigencies; hence the consolidation of these banks into a national banking system adapted to commercial and industrial needs appears only as a subordinate incident in the general scheme. As early, however, as the year 1864, it was perceived that the general welfare of the people would be promoted by giving greater cohesiveness and method to the system regarded more especially in its banking than in its currency features, and from that time to this the effort of legislation has been to subordinate the issuing of currency to the more important functions performed by the banks as institutions of discount and deposit. The effect of this legislation and its wisdom are exemplified in the present high credit and the consequent wide commercial usefulness of national banks.

If the system could be preserved purely as one of deposit and discount, there would probably arise an almost universal sentiment in favor of bestowing upon its preservation immediate and careful attention, but it is doubtful whether the banks would find sufficient inducement to remain in the system without enjoying some privileges as to the issue of currency, and it has been questioned whether there is power under the Constitution for the charter of national banks, except as instrumentalities for a money circulation.

It follows, therefore, that any legislation directed to the improvement and permanent establishment of the national banking system must include some provision for the maintenance of a national-bank circulation, while on the other hand it appears that whatever opposition exists to the national banks attaches to them mainly as banks of issue, and under our system of government nothing can be regarded as permanently established until it has obtained the support of a well-settled public opinion. Hence it is evident that the problem now to be solved is how to remodel the currency features of the national-bank system so as to obtain popular approval of them.

Objections to the present national-bank currency appear to be comprised within three classes, namely:

1. A general objection to paper money in any form.
2. An objection to national-bank notes based upon the assumption that they take the place of an equal amount of paper money that might be issued directly upon the credit of the Government.
3. The objection that a currency determined in volume by a definite percentage upon deposited securities of high value can never possess the flexibility and elasticity of volume which are the chief commercial advantages of a bank currency in any form.

Against these objections it has been answered—

1. That the question as to having paper money at all is not at present a practical one, because it is evident that our people will have paper money in one form or another, and that of all forms of paper money of which we have had any experience, the present national-bank currency is the least objectionable, even to those who think that all such money should be avoided.

2. That while a bank currency based on Government bonds and redeemable in greenbacks may be considered as a kind of Government money, on which the banks are getting the profit, yet without this privilege, or some other equivalent to it, the national-bank system could never have been established, nor can it now be maintained, and that this is the cheapest price at which the people or the Government could have got any banking system so good in all respects and so valuable as this has proved to be.

Another argument is that the Government must pay interest upon its bonds whether these are held by the banks or not, hence the profit to the banks on these bonds has been obtained without charge on the Treasury; while, on the other hand, if the banks had not been offered sufficient inducement to invest in these bonds, many more of them would have gone abroad at low prices, and the country as a whole would now be so much the worse off.

3. That the want of flexibility in the currency and of elasticity of volume are consequences arising from the scarcity of bonds and the high prices to which they have risen, and that this could not have been foreseen nor provided against in the original acts, but may now be remedied by proper legislation.

These objections and the answers to them are stated without comment. They are gathered from current discussion in the press, and seem worthy of consideration.

Some suggestions have been made to me as to new legislation on this subject, which, together with such conclusions as I have been able to reach, are subject to whatever disposition Congress may be pleased to order.

I. CONSTITUTIONAL LAW.

1. POWERS OF CONGRESS:

- (a) Congress has the constitutional power to incorporate banks. (McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat., 316; Osborn v. Bank of the United States, 9 Wheat., 738.)
- (b) Congress has power to clothe national banking associations, as to their contracts and dealings with the world, with any special immunities and privileges exempting them, in their trade and intercourse with others, from the laws and remedies applicable in like cases to other citizens. (The Chesapeake Bank v. The First National Bank of Baltimore, 40 Md., 269.)
- (c) Thus, the provision of the banking law that no attachment, injunction, or execution shall issue against a national banking association before final judgment in any suit, action, or proceeding in a State court is constitutional. (Ibid.)
- (d) The tax imposed on State or national banks paying out the notes of individuals or State banks used for circulation is constitutional. (Veazie Bank v. Fenno, 8 Wall., 533.)
- (e) So is the tax imposed on them for paying out the circulating notes of municipal corporations. (Merchants' National Bank of Little Rock v. United States, 101 U. S., 1.)
- (f) Such a tax is not a direct tax within the meaning of the clause of the Constitution, which declares that "direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers." (Veazie Bank v. Fenno, and Merchants' National Bank of Little Rock v. United States, supra.)
- (g) Congress having, in the exercise of undisputed constitutional powers, undertaken to provide a currency for the whole country, may secure the benefit of it to the people by appropriate legislation. (Veazie Bank v. Fenno, supra.)
- (h) Congress had the power to divest the United States courts of their jurisdiction of suits by or against national banking associations. (National Bank of Jefferson v. Fare et al., U. S. C. C. (E. D. Texas), 25 Fed. Rep., 209.)

2. POWERS OF THE STATES:

- (a) National banking associations, being instruments designed to aid the Government in the administration of a branch of the public service, cannot be controlled by the States, except in so far as Congress may see proper to permit. (Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Dearing, 91 U. S., 29.)
- (b) No authority from the State is necessary to enable a State bank to convert itself into a national banking association. (Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.)
- (c) National banking associations located outside of a State are subject to its restraining acts prohibiting all corporations, not authorized by the law of the State, from keeping therein offices for the purpose of discount and deposit. (National Bank of Fairhaven v. The Phoenix Warehousing Company, 6 Hun. 71.)
- (d) It is competent for a State by penal enactments to protect its citizens in their dealings with national banking associations located within the State. (State v. Fuller, 34 Conn., 280; see also Taxation and jurisdiction.)

II. POWERS AND LIABILITIES.

1. IMPLIED POWERS:

To the enumerated powers of national banking associations are to be superadded all the powers incidental to the business of banking. (Pattison v. Syracuse National Bank, 80 N. Y., 82.)

2. AS TO COLLATERAL SECURITIES:

- (a) A national banking association may take stock of a corporation as collateral security for a loan. (Shoemaker v. The National Mechanics' Bank, 2 Abb. U. S., 416; Confield v. The State National Bank of Minneapolis, U. S. C. (Dist. Minn.), 1 Northwestern Reporter, 173.)
- (b) And it may take for such purpose the stock of another national banking association. (National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628.)

NOTE.—But this point was not necessary to the decision of the case.

LXXVI REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

2. AS TO COLLATERAL SECURITIES—Continued.

- (c) A national banking association may take a pledge of personal chattels as security for a loan. (Pittsburgh Locomotive and Car Works v. State National Bank of Keokuk, U. S. C. C. (Eighth Circuit, 1875), 2 Cent. L. J., 692.)
- (d) A national banking association may take as security for a loan the indorsement of a married woman, charging her separate estate. Such security is to be treated as personal security, within the meaning of the banking law, and not as a mortgage. (Third National Bank v. Blake, 73 N. Y., 260.)
- (e) A national banking association may take as collateral security for a loan a warehouse receipt for merchandise. (Cleveland, Brown & Co. v. Shoeman, 40 Ohio St., 176.)
- (f) A national banking association may take as security for a loan the stock of a corporation whose entire capital is vested in real estate. Such a loan does not amount to a lending upon mortgage. (Baldwin v. Canfield, 26 Minn., 43.)
- (g) An agreement by a national banking association to the effect that, in case a note discounted by it shall not be paid, a mortgage given by the maker to his indorser shall inure to the benefit of the association, is not inhibited by the national banking law. (First National Bank v. Haire, 36 Iowa, 443; see also National Bank v. Matthers, 98 U. S., 621.)
- (h) A national banking association having taken a mortgage on real estate to secure a debt previously contracted may, in order to protect itself, pay off a prior lien on the said real estate; and the lien which it thus acquires it may enforce. (Ornn v. Merchants' National Bank, 16 Kans., 341; Holmes v. Boyd, 90 Ind., 332.)
- (i) Where a national banking association has taken collaterals to secure a loan, and, after the loan has been repaid, holds them to secure future advances, it is not a gratuitous bailee; and it is responsible for the loss of such collaterals occasioned by its lack of ordinary care and diligence, though at the time the bailor was not indebted to it. (Third National Bank of Baltimore v. Boyd, 44 Md., 47.)

3 SPECIAL DEPOSITS:

- (a) A national banking association may receive special deposits. The provision in section 5228, Revised Statutes, authorizing an association "to deliver special deposits" implies that it may receive them as a part of its legitimate business; and this implication is as effectual as an express declaration to the same effect would have been. (National Bank v. Graham, 100 U. S., 699.)
- (b) National banking associations have power to receive special deposits either gratuitously or otherwise. (Pattison v. Syracuse National Bank, 80 N. Y., 82.)
- (c) But the executive officers of an association cannot bind it as a gratuitous bailee, unless they have a special authority from the board of directors so to do, or there exists a general custom or usage to that effect. (First National Bank of Lyons v. Ocean National Bank, 60 N. Y., 278.)

4. GOVERNMENT SECURITIES:

- (a) National banking associations can engage in the business of dealing in and exchanging Government securities. (Van Leuven v. First National Bank, 54 N. Y., 671; Yerkes v. National Bank of Port Jervis, 69 N. Y., 383; Leach v. Hale, 31 Iowa, 69.)
- (b) And where an association receives United States bonds of one class for the purpose of having them converted into bonds of another class, it is not a mere mandatary, but is responsible for the failure to deliver the bonds on demand. (Leach v. Hale, supra.)

5. CERTIFIED CHECK:

A national banking association may "certify" a check. A "certified" check is not within the meaning of section 5183, Revised Statutes, which prohibits the issuing of post-notes or any notes to circulate as money other than such as are authorized by the national banking law. (Merchants' National Bank v. State National Bank, 10 Wall., 604.)

6. PURCHASING CHECK:

A national bank may buy a check drawn upon another bank; and whether the check is payable to order or to bearer is immaterial. (First National Bank of Rochester v. Harris, 108 Mass., 514.)

7. STOCKS:

- (a) A national banking association, in the compromise of a claim growing out of its legitimate business, may take railroad stock. (First National Bank of Charlotte v. National Exchange Bank of Baltimore, 92 U. S., 122.)

- (b) And when necessary to do so, it may pay the difference between the value of the stock and the amount of the claim. (Ibid.)
- (c) A national banking association may take and hold the coupons of municipal bonds, and may maintain actions thereon. (First National Bank of North Bennington v. Town of Bennington, U. S. C. C. (Dist. Vt.), Browne's N. B. Cas., 437; see also Lyons v. Lyons National Bank, 19 Blatch., 279.)

8. DEPOSITS TO SECURE PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACT:

A national banking association may receive a deposit to be held by it as security for the faithful performance of a contract between the depositor and another. (Bushnell v. The Chatauqua County National Bank, 10 Hun., 378.)

NOTE.—But the court put the decision upon the further ground that even were the contract ultra vires, the association, having received the deposit, was estopped from setting up its want of power.

9. LOANS IN EXCESS OF ONE-TENTH CAPITAL:

- (a) Sec. 5200, Revised Statutes, which provides that the total liabilities to any association of any person, &c., shall not exceed one-tenth part of the capital stock paid in, was intended only for the guidance of the association, and, though its franchisees may be liable to forfeiture for violation of the law, the association may recover of the borrower the full amount of the loan. (Gold Mining Company v. Rocky Mountain National Bank, 96 U. S., 640; O'Hare v. Second National Bank of Titusville, 77 Penn. St., 96; Shoemaker v. The National Mechanics' Bank, 2 Abb. U. S., 416; Stewart v. National Union Bank of Maryland, 2 Abb. U. S., 424.)
- (b) A note is not illegal because at the time it was discounted by the association the maker was indebted to the association in a sum equal to more than one-tenth part of its capital. (O'Hare v. Second National Bank of Titusville, supra.)
- (c) And a court of equity will not enjoin an association, at the instance of the borrower, from transferring to innocent third persons notes and securities, on the ground that the notes represent part of a loan made in excess of 10 per cent. of the capital of the association. (Elder v. First National Bank of Ottawa, 12 Kans., 238.)
- (d) Where a State bank makes a loan to one person of an amount in excess of one-tenth part of its capital, and is afterward converted into a national bank, it may, after conversion, extend the time for payment of such loan without violating section 5200, Revised Statutes. (Allen v. The First National Bank of Xenia, 23 Ohio St., 97.)

10. REAL ESTATE:

- (a) Where a national banking association acquires real estate which it is not authorized to take, the conveyance to it is not void, but only voidable. And the title of the association to such real estate is good until assailed in a direct proceeding by the Government. (Reynolds v. Crawfordville Bank, 112 U. S., 405; see also National Bank v. Matthers, 98 U. S., 621; National Bank v. Whitney, 103 U. S., 99; Swope v. Leffingwell, 105 U. S., 3; Fortier v. New Orleans Bank, 112 U. S., 439.)
- (b) The amount of real estate which a national banking association may purchase to secure a pre-existing debt is not limited to the exact amount of the debt, but as much may be purchased as is necessary to secure the debt due, so long as the security of such debt is the real object of the purchase. (Upton v. National Bank of South Reading, 120 Mass., 153.)
- (c) Where the purpose is to secure a debt previously contracted, a national banking association may take a conveyance of real estate worth more than the debt, and pay the difference between the debt and the value of the property. (Libby v. Union National Bank, 99 Ill., 622.)
- (d) Where a national banking association sells real estate it may take a mortgage thereon to secure the payment of the purchase-money. (New Orleans National Bank v. Raymond, 29 La. Ann., 355.)

11. CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT:

National banking associations may issue certificates of deposit. Such certificates are not post-notes within the prohibition of section 5183, Revised Statutes. (Hunt v. Appellant, Supreme Court of Mass., May 7, 1886; Riddle v. First National Bank U. S. C. C. (W. D. Penn.), 27 Fed. Rep., 503.)

12. LIEN ON DIVIDENDS:

An association has an equitable lien upon dividends declared for any just debt due to it from the shareholders. (Hager v. Union National Bank, 63 Me., 509.)

LXXVIII REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

13. CONTRACTS AND OBLIGATIONS OF OLD CORPORATION:

- (a) Where a State bank has been converted into a national banking association it may enforce all contracts made with it while a State corporation. (City National Bank v. Phelps, 97 N. Y., 44.)
- And it is liable, after the conversion, for all the obligations of the old institution. (Coffee v. The National Bank of Missouri, 46 Mo., 140; Kelsey v. The National Bank of Crawford, 69 Penn. St., 426.)
- (c) A national banking association organized as the successor of a State bank may take and hold the assets of the bank whose place it takes, though there was not in form a conversion from a State to a national corporation, but the organization of a new corporation. (Bank v. McIntire, 40 Ohio St., 528.)
- (d) And such association will be liable to the depositors of the former bank. (Eans v. Exchange Bank, 79 Mo., 182.)

14. PLACE OF BUSINESS:

- (a) The provision requiring "the usual business" of the association to be transacted "at an office or banking-house in the place specified in its organization certificate" must be construed reasonably; and a part of the legitimate business of the association which cannot be transacted at the banking-house may be done elsewhere. (Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall., 604.)
- (b) Although the general business of a national banking association is to be transacted at its place of business, yet, if the association is fully advised of the facts, and does not object, and there is no fraud, its officers, when acting within the general scope of their authority, may bind it by acts done at another place. (Burton v. Burley, 9 Biss., 253.)

15. CIRCULATING NOTES:

The circulating notes of a national banking association are valid, though they do not bear the imprint of the seal of the Treasury. Such imprint was intended to be simply evidence of the contract, and forms no part of the contract itself. (United States v. Bennett, 17 Blatch., 357.)

III. ULTRA VIRES.

1. DEALING IN STOCKS:

- (a) A national banking association is not authorized to act as a broker or agent in the purchase of bonds and stocks. (First National Bank of Allentown v. Hoch, 89 Penn. St., 324; Weckler v. The First National Bank of Hagerstown, 42 Md., 581.)
- (b) A national banking association cannot deal in stocks. The prohibition is to be implied from the failure to grant the power. (First National Bank v. National Exchange Bank, 92 U. S., 122.)

NOTE.—But see as to its power to deal in Government securities, Powers, 4.

2. PURCHASING NEGOTIABLE PAPER:

A national banking association cannot purchase negotiable paper. (Lazear v. National Union Bank of Baltimore, 52 Md., 78; First National Bank of Rochester v. Pierson, 24 Minn., 140; see also Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Baldwin, 23 Minn., 198. But see Smith v. The Exchange Bank of Pittsburgh, 26 Ohio St., 141.)

3. LENDING CREDIT:

- (a) A national banking association cannot lend its credit. (Johnston v. Charlottesville National Bank, 3 Hughes, 657; Seligman v. Charlottesville National Bank, 3 Hughes, 647.)
- (b) A national banking association cannot guarantee the paper of a customer for his accommodation. (Seligman v. Charlottesville National Bank, supra.)
- (c) The accommodation paper of a national banking association is void in the hands of one who takes it with knowledge of its character. (Johnston v. Charlottesville National Bank, supra.)

4. MORTGAGES ON REAL ESTATE:

- (a) National banking associations are by implication prohibited from taking mortgages on real estate as security for contemporaneous loans. (National Bank v. Matthews, 98 U. S., 621; Fowler v. Scully, 72 Penn. St., 456; Kansas Valley National Bank v. Rowell, 2 Dill., 371; Commonwealth Bank v. Clark, 4 Mo., 59; Crocker v. Whitney, 71 N. Y., 161; Fridley v. Bowen, 87 Ill., 151.)
- (b) But where such security has been taken, no one but the Government can be heard to complain that the association has exceeded its powers. (National Bank v. Matthews, supra; National Bank v. Whitney, 103 U. S., 99; Swope v.

Leffingwell, 105 U. S., 3; Reynolds v. National Bank, 112 U. S., 405; Fortier v. National Bank, 112 U. S., 439.)

NOTE.—These decisions overrule, on this point, Kansas Valley National Bank v. Rowell, 2 Dill., 371; Crocker v. Whitney, supra; Fowler v. Scully, supra; Matthews v. Skinner, 62 Mo., 329; Woods v. People's National Bank of Pittsburgh, 83 Penn St., 57; Fridley v. Bowen, supra.

5. WHEN ASSOCIATION CANNOT SET UP WANT OF POWER:

Where a national banking association has entered into a contract which it was not authorized to make, a party who has enjoyed the benefit of such contract cannot question its validity. (Casey v. La Société de Credit Mobilier, 2 Woods, 77; German National Bank v. Meadowcroft, 95 Ill., 124.)

IV. STOCK.*1. PURCHASING ITS OWN STOCK:

Where a national banking association purchases shares of its own stock, and divides them among its directors, to whom the shares are transferred upon the stock books, the transaction is void, and no title passes. (Meyers v. Valley National Bank, U. S. D. C. (E. Dist. Mo.), 13 National Bankruptcy Register, 34.)

2. LIENS ON STOCK:

(a) A national banking association cannot acquire a lien on the stock of a shareholder. And a by-law prohibiting a transfer until all liabilities of the shareholder to the association are discharged, or a provision to that effect in the certificates of stock, is void. (Bullard v. National Bank, 18 Wall., 529; Bank v. Lanier, 11 Wall., 369; Conklin v. The Second National Bank, 45 N. Y., 655.)

(b) A national banking association cannot take a pledge of its stock to secure a deposit made by it with another bank. Such a transaction amounts to a lending upon the security of its own shares. (Bank v. Lanier, supra.)

(c) Though a bank is prohibited from lending money upon the security of its own shares, yet if the shares have been sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of the debt, the courts will not aid the shareholder to recover the value of the shares. He can dispute the validity of the transaction only while the contract is executory, and the security still subsists in the possession of the bank. (National Bank of Xenia v. Stewart, 107 U. S., 676.)

3. MAY BE ATTACHED:

The stock of a shareholder indebted to it may be attached by the association and sold on execution. (Hagar v. Union National Bank, 63 Me., 509.)

4. CAPITAL SET FREE BELONGS TO SHAREHOLDERS:

When a national banking association reduces its capital stock the amount of capital thus released belongs to the shareholders pro rata, and must be returned to them; and it cannot be retained by the association for a surplus. (Seely v. New York National Exchange Bank, 8 Daly, 400; s. e., 4 Abb. N. C., 61.)

5. CONTRACTS TO GIVE SHARES FOR BUSINESS:

Where an association has made or ratified a contract to give a person a certain number of the shares of its stock, upon condition that he will continue to do his business with it, and derives the benefit from this contract, the other party may recover of the association the value of the shares. (Rich v. State National Bank of Lincoln, 7 Nebr., 231.)

6. TRANSFER OF STOCK:

(a) The transfer of shares in national banking associations is not governed by different rules from those which are ordinarily applied to the transfer of shares in other corporate bodies. (Johnson v. Laffin, 103 U. S., 800.)

(b) The entry of the transaction in the books of the association is required, not for the translation of the title, but for the protection of the parties and others dealing with the association, and to enable it to know who are its stockholders. (Ibid.)

(c) A shareholder in a national bank, while it is a going concern, has the absolute right, in the absence of fraud, to make a bona fide and actual sale and transfer of his shares, at any time, to any person capable in law of purchasing and holding the same, and of assuming the transferer's liabilities in respect thereto; and this right is not, in such cases, subject to the control of the directors or other stockholders. (Johnson v. Laffin, 5 Dill., 65.)

- (d) Under the pretense of prescribing the manner thereof, an association can not clog the transfer with useless restrictions. (Johnson v. Laflin, supra.)
- (e) When a shareholder, acting in good faith, delivers his certificates of stock, with a blank power of attorney for making the transfer, and receives the purchase-money, the sale is complete, and the title passes. (Ibid.)
- (f) Where a cashier, who is intrusted by the directors with the duty of transferring the stock of the association, refuses, for insufficient reasons, to transfer shares, and the association subsequently becomes insolvent, the owner of the shares may maintain an action against the receiver for the injury sustained. (Case v. Citizens' Bank, 100 U. S., 446.)

7. SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACT TO SELL:

A specific performance of a contract to sell the stock of a national banking association will not be enforced in favor of a purchaser who places his claim for equitable relief upon the ground that he desires to obtain control of the association. Such an object is contrary to public policy. (Fell's Appeal, 81 Penn. St., 434.)

V. SHAREHOLDERS.

1. ESTOPPED TO DENY INCORPORATION:

A shareholder who has held himself out to the world as such is estopped to deny that the association was legally incorporated. (Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673; Wheelock v. Kost, 77 Ill., 296.)

2. INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY:

- (a) The question whether there is a deficiency of assets, and when it is necessary to enforce the individual liability of shareholders, is for the Comptroller to determine; and his decision in this matter is final and conclusive. (Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498; National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.)
- (b) The amount contributed by each shareholder should bear the same proportion to the whole amount of the deficit as his own stock bears to the whole amount of the capital stock at its par value. And the solvent shareholders cannot be made to contribute more than their proportion to make good the deficiency caused by the insolvency of other shareholders. (United States v. Knox, 102 U. S., 422.)
- (c) A shareholder who disposes of his stock will continue to be liable thereon until the transfer is noted on the books of the association. (Bowdell v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank of Baltimore, U. S. C. C. (D. Md., 1877), Browne's N. B. Cas., 147.)
- (d) The individual liability of a shareholder adheres to his estate after his death until his place as a member of the association is taken by some new shareholder. (Davis v. Weed, U. S. D. C. (Dist. Conn.), reported 44 Conn., 569.)
- (e) The receiver has a valid claim against the estate generally of a deceased shareholder who died prior to the insolvency of the bank, but whose stock has not been transferred. (Ibid.)
- (f) And the fact that the title to the stock of a deceased shareholder vests in his administrator does not relieve the estate from the burden of an assessment. (Ibid.)
- (g) Nor will the fact that the administration is complete, and all the assets have been distributed, defeat an action brought to recover the assessment. (Ibid.)
- (h) One who appears on the books of the association as the owner of shares of its stock is individually liable, though he hold the stock merely as collateral security. (National Bank v. Case, 99 U. S., 628; Moore v. Jones, 3 Woods, 53; Bowdell v. Farmers and Merchants' National Bank of Baltimore, supra; Hale v. Walker, 31 Iowa, 344; Wheelock v. Kost, supra.)
- (i) But where a pledgee, for the express purpose of avoiding a personal liability, and before the association becomes insolvent, or is in danger of insolvency, transfers the stock to an irresponsible person, he, the pledgee, will not be liable to contribute as a shareholder. (Anderson v. Warehouse Co., 111 U. S., 479.)
- (j) And where stock has been transferred as collateral security for a loan, with the understanding that in case of default in the payment of the loan the shares shall be sold, the transferee, upon default made, and before the bank closes its doors, may sell the stock for a nominal consideration, though his purpose be to avoid a personal liability; and such a transaction cannot be set aside as a fraud upon the creditors of the association. (Magruder v. Colston, 44 Md., 349.)

NOTE.—The court put the decision upon the ground that the sale was in pursuance of a stipulation which formed a part of the contract between the original owner and his transferee. See also Holyoke Bank v. Burnham, 11 Cush., 187, upon the authority of which the Maryland case was decided.

- (k) If the trusteeship of one who holds stock in trust does not appear upon the books of the association he will be individually liable. (Davis v. Essex Baptist Society, U. S. D. C. (Dist. Conn.), reported 44 Conn., 582.)
- (l) A transfer of shares for the purpose of avoiding liability, though made "out and out," is void. (National Bank v. Case, supra; Bowden v. Santos, 1 Hughes, 158.)
- (m) And where a shareholder, who has knowledge of the insolvent condition of the bank, transfers his shares, without consideration, to a person unable to respond to the assessment, the transfer may be set aside and the individual liability of the transferer enforced. (Bowden v. Johnson, 107 U. S., 251.)
- (n) The real owner of the stock is liable as a stockholder, though when he purchased the stock he had it transferred upon the books to another. (Davis v. Stevens, 17 Blatch., 259.)

NOTE.—The case of the owner of stock is thus different from that of a pledgee. (See Anderson v. Philadelphia Warehouse Company, supra.)

- (o) Where shareholders have assessed themselves to the amount of the par value of the stock for the purpose of restoring impaired capital, the contributions made in pursuance of such assessment, though all used in paying the debts of the association, will not so operate either at law or in equity as to discharge the shareholders from their individual liability. (Delano v. Butler, U. S. S. C., October Term, 1886.)
- (p) The individual liability of the shareholders of an insolvent association may be enforced for the purpose of paying all of its liabilities, and not merely for the purpose of paying its "debts," technically so called. (Stanton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357.)

VI. OFFICERS.*1. TENURE OF OFFICE:

- (a) The officers of a national banking association can hold their positions only by the tenure specified in section 5136, Revised Statutes, viz, the pleasure of the board of directors. (Harrington v. First National Bank of Chittenango, S. C. N. Y., 1873, Thomp. N. B. Cas., 761; see also Taylor v. Hutton, 43 Barb., 195.)
- (b) Directors of national banking associations may remove the president, both under the law of Congress and the articles of association, where the latter so provide. The power exists though the association has adopted no by-laws. (Taylor v. Hutton, supra.)

2. BONDS OF OFFICERS:

- (a) It is not necessary that national banking associations shall signify their approval of the official bonds of their officers by memoranda entered upon the journals or minutes of the directors. The acceptance is to be presumed from the retention of the bond, and from the fact that the officer is permitted to enter upon, or continue in the discharge of his duties. (Grover v. The Lebanon National Bank, 10 Bush, 23.)
- (b) Where the sureties of an officer can reasonably be presumed to have been deceived by the statement of the condition of the bank published just prior to the execution of the bond, and to have been led to think that there was no deficit, whereas there had been a misapplication of a large part of the funds by the officer whose bondsmen they became, which fact would have been ascertained had the directors exercised ordinary diligence, the sureties are discharged from their liability. (Grover v. The Lebanon National Bank, supra.)

3. BORROWING MONEY OF ASSOCIATION:

An officer may, in the ordinary course of business, borrow money of the association. (Blair v. First National Bank of Mansfield, U. S. C. C. (N. D. Ohio, 1877), 10 Chicago Legal News, 84.)

4. CASHIER'S LIABILITY FOR LOAN IN EXCESS OF ONE-TENTH CAPITAL:

If a cashier, without authority from the directors so to do, make a loan in excess of one-tenth of the capital of the association, he will be liable, in case of loss, for the amount of the excess. (Second National Bank of Oswego v. Burt, XIV New York Weekly Digest, 290.)

LXXXII REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

5. DIRECTORS OF CONVERTED BANKS:

- (a) When a State bank is converted into a national banking association all of the directors at the time will continue to be the directors of the association until others are appointed or elected, though some of them may not have joined in the execution of the articles of association and organization certificate. (Lockwood v. The American National Bank, 9 R. I., 308.)
- (b) And, semble, that the directors of a bank at the time of its conversion into a national banking association are not required to take the oath of directors. (Ibid.)
- (c) But even were the oath required, a majority of all who were directors at the time of the conversion, and not merely a majority of those who take the oath, are necessary to constitute a quorum. (Ibid.)

VII. INTEREST.

1. WHAT INTEREST ASSOCIATIONS MAY TAKE:

- (a) The provision in section 30 of the act of 1864 "that where, by the law of any State, a different rate is limited for banks of issue organized under State laws, the rate so limited shall be allowed for associations organized in any such State under the act," is enabling, and not restrictive; and, therefore, a national banking association in any State may stipulate for as high a rate of interest as by the laws of such State a natural person may, although State banks of issue are restricted to a less rate. (Tiffany v. National Bank of the State of Missouri, 18 Wall., 409.)
- (b) But it is not to be inferred from Tiffany v. National Bank of Missouri that whatever by the laws of the State is lawful for natural persons in acquiring title to negotiable paper by discount is lawful for national banks. (National Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S., 271.)
- (c) The interest which a national banking association may charge is limited to the rate allowed to the banks of the State generally; and the fact that a few of the State banks are specially authorized to take a higher rate is not a warrant for a national banking association to do so. (Duncan v. First National Bank of Mount Pleasant, U. S. D. C. (W. D. Penn., 1878), 11 Bank. Mag., 787; Gruber v. First National Bank, 87 Penn. St., 468.)
- (d) Where the State law does not limit the rate of interest which may be charged on loans to corporations, a national banking association located in that State cannot charge more than 7 per cent. interest on such loans (In re Wild, 11 Blatch., 243.)

2. ON CLAIMS AGAINST INSOLVENT ASSOCIATIONS:

- (a) A depositor in a national banking association which has become insolvent is entitled to interest on his deposit. (National Bank of Commonwealth v. Mechanics' National Bank, 94 U. S., 437.)
- (b) He is entitled to interest from the date of the suspension of payments; and no demand upon the association is necessary. (Chemical National Bank v. Bailey, 12 Blatch., 480.)
- (c) Claims, when proved to the satisfaction of the Comptroller, are upon the same footing as if put in judgment, and therefore bear interest; and the fact that, under certain circumstances, there might be thus a compounding of interest, will not defeat the right to interest. (National Bank of Commonwealth v. Mechanics' National Bank, supra.)
- (d) But where a creditor has obtained judgment against an insolvent national banking association for the full amount of his claim and interest, he is not entitled to interest upon the face of the judgment, but only upon the amount of the claim at the time of the failure. (White v. Knox, 111 U. S., 784.)
- (e) The creditors of an insolvent national banking association in the hands of a receiver are entitled to interest on their claims during the period of administration. (Chemical National Bank v. Bailey, supra.)
- (f) The assessments made by the Comptroller upon the shareholders of an insolvent association bear interest from the date of the order. (Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.)

3. USURY:

- (a) The usury laws of the States do not apply to national banking associations. (Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Dearing, 91 U. S., 29; Central National Bank v. Pratt, 115 Mass., 539; First National Bank v. Gorlinghouse, 22 Ohio St., 492; Davis v. Randall, 115 Mass., 547; Hintermister v. First National Bank, 64 N. Y., 212.)
- (b) And the remedies provided by the State for the taking of usury cannot be resorted to. (Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Dearing, supra; Wiley v. Starbuck, 44 Ind., 298.)

- (c) The taking of illegal interest by a national banking association does not render the contract void. (Farmers and Mechanics' Bank v. Dearing, supra.)
- (d) It does not invalidate an indorsement or a guaranty of the notes upon which the usurious interest was paid. (Oates v. First National Bank of Montgomery, 100 U. S., 239; Lazear v. National Union Bank of Baltimore, 52 Md., 78.)
- (e) But usury destroys the interest-bearing power of the obligation; and there will be no point of time from which it can bear interest. (Lucas v. Government National Bank, 78 Penn. St., 228.)
- (f) The usury works a forfeiture of the entire interest accruing after maturity and before judgment, as well as that which accrues before maturity. (Shunk v. The First National Bank of Galion, 22 Ohio St., 508.)
- (g) The discounting of business paper by a national banking association at a higher than the legal rate is usurious, though the law of the State fixes no limit to the rate which natural persons may take for the discount or purchase of such paper. (Johnson v. National Bank of Gloversville, 74 N. Y., 329; affirmed in National Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S., 271.)
- (h) By charging more than legal interest on overdrafts, a national banking association loses the right to recover any interest at all. (Third National Bank of Philadelphia v. Miller, 90 Penn. St., 241.)
- (i) The liabilities of antecedent parties to a note or bill will not be affected by the usurious character of the transaction between the payee and the association; and the association may recover the full amount of the note or bill from the maker or acceptor. (Smith v. The Exchange Bank of Pittsburgh, 26 Ohio St., 141.)
- (j) Usurious interest which has been paid to a national banking association cannot be applied by way of payment or set-off in any action by the association to recover the amount of the loan. (Barnet v. Muncie National Bank, 98 U. S., 855.)
- (k) Nor can the penalty for taking the usurious interest be recovered by way of counter claim in such action, but a separate action must be brought therefor. (Ibid.)

NOTE.—This case overrules portions of the decisions in Lucas v. Government National Bank, supra; Overholt v. National Bank, 82 Penn. St., 490; Cake v. The First National Bank of Lebanon, 83 Penn. St., 303.

- (l) A director is not by reason of his position estopped from setting up the defense of usury in an action brought against him by the association. (Bank of Cadiz v. Slemmons, 34 Ohio St., 142.)
- (m) Where a national banking association has discounted notes for another bank at a usurious rate of interest, the fact that the other bank has charged illegal interest on those notes to its customers will not affect its right to set up the defense of usury in an action by the association. (Third National Bank of Philadelphia v. Miller, supra.)
- (n) The amount which may be recovered from the association as a penalty is twice the amount of interest paid, and not simply twice the amount in excess of the legal rate. (Crocker v. First National Bank of Chetopa, U. S. C. C. (Eighth Circuit), 3 Am. L. T. [N. S.], 350; Overholt v. National Bank of Mount Pleasant, 82 Penn. St., 490; see also Barnet v. Muncie National Bank, supra.)

VIII. INSOLVENCY.

1. NOT SUBJECT TO BANKRUPT ACT :

National banking associations were not subject to the bankrupt act while that act was in force. (In re Manufacturers' National Bank, 5 Biss., 499.)

2. WHAT CONSTITUTES INSOLVENCY :

The term "insolvency," as used in section 5242 Revised Statutes, forbidding transfer of the assets of national banking associations after, or in contemplation of, such insolvency, has the same meaning as it had when applied to traders in the bankrupt act; that is, it does not mean an absolute inability of a debtor to pay his debt at some future time, upon a settlement and winding up of his affairs, but a present inability to pay in the ordinary course of business. (Case v. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, 2 Woods, 23; Market Bank v. Pacific National Bank, 30 Hun, 50.)

LXXXIV . REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

3. ASSETS A TRUST FUND :

Upon the appointment of a receiver all the assets of the association become in his hands a trust fund which the statute of limitations does not touch or affect. (Riddle v. First National Bank, U. S. C. C. (W. D. Penn.), 27 Fed. Rep., 503.)

NOTE.—But this point was not necessary to the decision of the case, for suits against insolvent corporations are by a law of Pennsylvania expressly excluded from the operation of the statute.

4. UNITED STATES HAS NO PRIORITY :

- (a) Section 3466, which gives the United States a priority for all claims it has against insolvent debtors, does not apply to the case of an insolvent national banking association. (Cook County National Bank v. United States, 107 U. S., 445.)
- (b) And as against the proceeds of the bonds deposited to secure circulation the United States can set off no claim, except for money advanced to redeem the notes. (Ibid.)
- (c) And upon the failure of an association its five per cent. redemption fund cannot be retained by the Treasurer to pay taxes due to the United States, but the fund passes to the Comptroller as an asset of the association. (Jackson v. United States, 20 Ct. Cls., 298.)

5. CLAIMS FOR TORTS :

Claims arising out of the non-feasance or malfeasance of the association should be paid ratably with the debts, technically so called. (Turner v. The First National Bank of Keokuk et al., 26 Iowa, 562.)

6. PREFERENCES :

- (a) A preference, to be within the meaning of section 5242 Revised Statutes, must be given to an existing creditor to secure a pre-existing debt. A transfer by an insolvent bank to secure a contemporaneous loan is not a violation of the law (Casey v. La Société de Crédit Mobilier, 2 Woods, 77)
- (b) The insolvency need be in the contemplation of the bank only. It need not be known to the person to whom the transfer is made. (Case v. Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, supra.)
- (c) After the directors of an insolvent association have voted to close its doors, any transfer of assets whereby a creditor secures a preference must be presumed to be made with an intent to prefer. (National Security Bank v. Price, 22 Fed. Rep., 697.)
- (d) Where the officers of an association which is in danger of insolvency, for the purpose and in the expectation of preventing a failure, make a pledge of securities to a depositor to induce him not to withdraw his deposit, such a pledge is not a preference within the meaning of section 5242 Revised Statutes, and will not be set aside when the association afterward is declared insolvent. (Roberts v. Hill, 23 Fed. Rep., 311.)
- (e) Where an insolvent association receives a deposit a short time before closing its doors, its officers knowing of the insolvency at the time, the receipt of such deposit is a fraud upon the depositor, and no title passes to the association; and, therefore, the depositor may reclaim the whole amount of the deposit; and as he claims under his original title, and not under a transfer from the association, such reclamation does not amount to a preference. (Cragie et al v. Hadley, 99 N. Y., 131.)

7. BASIS FOR ESTIMATION OF DIVIDENDS :

In estimating the dividends to be paid out of the assets of an insolvent association, the value of the claims at the time when the insolvency is declared is to be taken as the basis of distribution. (White v. Knox, 111 U. S., 784.)

8. SET-OFF :

- (a) A person liable upon a note to an insolvent national bank may set off against his indebtedness the amount of his deposit with the bank. (Platt v. Bentley, Thomp. N. B. Cas., 758.)
- (b) But a debtor cannot set off the amount of a deposit assigned to him after the act of insolvency committed. (The Venango National Bank v. Taylor, 56 Penn. St., 14.)

IX. RECEIVERS.

1. OFFICER OF THE UNITED STATES:

A receiver, when appointed by the Comptroller, with the concurrence of the Secretary, is an officer of the United States. (Stanton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 327.)

2. WHOM HE REPRESENTS:

He represents the bank, its stockholders, and its creditors; but he does not in any sense represent the Government. (Case v. Terrell, 11 Wall., 199.)

3. HOW FAR SUBJECT TO COMPTROLLER'S ORDERS:

- (a) The clause of section 50, act of 1864, which prescribes that the receiver shall be "under the direction of the Comptroller," means only that he shall be subject to the Comptroller's direction, not that he shall not act without orders. He may bring suit to collect assets without having been instructed to do so by the Comptroller. (Bank v. Kennedy, 17 Wall.)
- (b) The receiver of a national bank is the instrument of the Comptroller, and may be removed by him. (Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 505.)

4. POWER OF COURTS TO APPOINT:

- (a) The power of the Comptroller to appoint a receiver is not exclusive; it does not oust the courts of equity of their authority in the matter; and, therefore, a court of competent jurisdiction may place the bank in the hands of a receiver in cases where, according to the rules of equity, it may pursue such a course with regard to insolvent corporations generally. (Irons v. Manufacturers' National Bank, 6 Biss., 301; Wright v. Merchants' National Bank, 1 Flippin, 561.)
- (b) Where a bank has gone into voluntary liquidation, and the Comptroller has no power to appoint a receiver, a proper court, in a case where such action is necessary to protect the interests of a creditor, will appoint a receiver for it. (Irons v. The Manufacturers' National Bank, supra.)

5. DEBTORS OF ASSOCIATION CANNOT QUESTION LEGALITY OF APPOINTMENT:

The legality of the appointment of the receiver cannot be questioned by the debtors of the bank when sued by him. The bank may move to have the appointment set aside, but the debtors cannot. (Cadle v. Baker, 20 Wall., 650; see also Platt v. Beebe, 57 N. Y., 339.)

6. RECEIVER'S DECISION NOT FINAL:

The decision of a receiver rejecting a claim is not final. The claimant still has the right to sue. (Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 383.)

7. SALE BY:

- (a) The receiver cannot sell the real or personal property of the bank without an order from a court of competent jurisdiction. (Ellis v. Little, 27 Kans., 707.)
- (b) Nor can he sell upon terms in conflict with the order. (Ibid.)
- (c) And under an order permitting him to sell the property of the bank he cannot exchange, trade, or barter it for other property. (Ibid.)
- (d) A sale made by a receiver under order of a court is to all intents and purposes a judicial sale. (In re Third National Bank, 9 Biss, 535.)

8. CONTRACTS OF:

- (a) As the power of a receiver of a national bank appointed by the Comptroller is limited, a person dealing with him in his official capacity is bound as a matter of law to have knowledge of his authority to act, and if contracts and agreements are entered into with the receiver in excess of his authority as conferred by law, the parties contract at their own peril, and the estate of the bank cannot be charged for the default or inability of a receiver acting outside of his functions as receiver and beyond the duties which it involves. (Ellis v. Little, 27 Kans., 707.)
- (b) The receiver cannot charge the estate of the bank by any executory contract, unless authorized so to do by the provisions of the national banking law, and the order of a court of competent jurisdiction obtained upon the terms of said law. (Ibid.)

X. TAXATION.

1. WHAT MAY BE TAXED:

- (a) A State cannot tax the capital stock of a national bank, as such. The tax must be assessed upon the shares of the different stockholders. (Collins v. Chicago, 4 Biss., 472.)
  - (b) The entire interest of the shareholders may be taxed without any deduction for that portion of the capital which is invested in United States securities. (Van Allen v. The Assessors, 3 Wall., 573.)
  - (c) New shares issued by a national banking association cannot be taxed until the increase of capital has been approved by the Comptroller of the Currency. (Charleston v. People's National Bank, 5 S. C., 103.)
  - (d) The undivided surplus of a national banking association, unless invested in Federal securities, may be lawfully taxed by the State. (North Ward National Bank of Newark v. City of Newark, 10 Vroom, 380; First National Bank v. Peterborough, 56 N. H., 38.)
  - (e) But, of course, if the surplus is taken into consideration in estimating the taxable value of the shares, it is not to be taxed separately. (North Ward National Bank v. City of Newark, supra.)
- NOTE.—But it has been held in Maryland that the stock of an association represents its whole property, and where a tax is assessed upon the shares a separate tax upon the real or personal estate amounts to double taxation; and, therefore, where the organic laws of the State prohibit double taxation, such a tax upon the property of an association is void. (County Commissioners v. Farmers and Mechanics' National Bank, 48 Md. 117; see also National State Bank v. Young, 25 Iowa, 311, wherein it was held that the States could tax only the shares, co nomine, and the real estate.)
- (f) The surplus fund of a national banking association is not excluded in the valuation of its shares for taxation. (Strafford National Bank v. Dover, 59 N. H., 316.)
  - (g) Where shares of stock are assessed at their actual cash value without any deduction for the real estate owned by the association the real estate should not be taxed co nomine. (Commissioners of Rice County v. Citizens' National Bank of Paribault, 23 Minn., 280.)
  - (h) The States cannot tax the circulating notes of national banking associations. (Horne v. Greene, 52 Miss., 452; Contra Board of Commissioners v. Elston, 32 Ind., 27; see also Ruffin v. Board of Commissioners, 69 N. C., 498; Lily v. The Commissioners, 69 N. C., 300.)

2. RATE:

- (a) Where the State banks are taxed upon their capital, no tax can be imposed upon the shares of national banking associations; for as the capital of the State banks may consist of the bonds of the United States, which are exempt from State taxation, a tax on capital is not equivalent to a tax on shares. (Van Allen v. The Assessors, 3 Wall., 573; Bradley v. The People, 4 Wall., 459.)
- (b) But though the tax upon the State banks is not co nomine a tax on shares, yet if it is equivalent to such a tax the shares in the national banking associations located in that State may be taxed. (Frazer v. Seibern, 16 Ohio St., 614; Van Slyke v. State, 23 Wis., 656; Boynoll v. State, 25 Wis., 112.)
- (c) When by local legislation different rates are prescribed for different classes of moneyed capital, the rate imposed upon shares of national banks should approximate as closely as may be to the rate imposed upon other moneyed capital of the same or similar class, viz, shares of State banks. (City National Bank v. Paducah, U. S. C. C. (Sixth Circuit, 1877), 5 Cent. L. J., 347.)
- (d) Congress meant no more than to require of the States as a condition to the exercise of the power to tax the shares in national banks, that they should, as far as they had the capacity, tax in like manner the shares of banks of issue of their own creation. (Lionberger v. Rouse, 9 Wall., 468.)
- (e) Therefore, where a State has previously contracted with the banks which it has chartered that they shall not be taxed above a certain rate, a tax upon national-bank shares at a greater rate is not invalid, if this rate is not greater than that assessed upon all the moneyed capital within the State, except that of the State banks. (Ibid.)
- (f) Any system of assessment of taxes which exacts from the owner of the shares of a national banking association a larger sum in proportion to the actual value of those shares than it does from other moneyed capital, valued in like manner, taxes the shares at a greater rate, notwithstanding that the percentage of tax on the valuation is the same as that applied to other moneyed capital. (Pelton v. Commercial National Bank, 101 U. S., 143.)

3. VALUATION:

- (a) In estimating the value of the shares for the purpose of taxation reference may be had to all the property and values of the bank. (St. Louis National Bank v. Papin, U. S. C. C. (Eighth Circuit), 3 Cent. L. J., 669.)
- (b) If no excessive valuation is complained of, and a correct result is arrived at, equity will not restrain the collection of a tax because the method of computation was erroneous. (Ibid.)
- (c) The shares may be valued for taxation at an amount exceeding their face value, if this amount is not at a greater rate than the valuation set upon other moneyed capital in the State. (Hepburn v. School Directors, 23 Wall., 480.)
- (d) Under the statute of New York, shares in national banking associations should be taxed at their real or market value. (People v. The Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments, 94 U. S., 415.)
- (e) Where shares in national banking associations are purposely valued proportionally higher than the other moneyed capital in the State, the assessment is void. (Pelton v. National Bank, 101 U. S., 143.)
- (f) And the collection of what is in excess of the rate imposed on the other moneyed capital may be enjoined. (Ibid.)

4. EXEMPTIONS:

- (a) The intention of Congress was that the rate of taxation of the shares should be the same as, or not greater than, the tax upon the moneyed capital of the individual citizen which is subject and liable to taxation. (People v. The Commissioners, 4 Wall., 244.)
- (b) Therefore, it is not a ground of objection to the validity of a tax on shares that, while deductions for United States bonds are made from the personal estates of individuals and the capital of State corporations, no deductions are made on account of the capital of national banking associations invested in such bonds. (Ibid.)
- (c) The fact that by the statutes creating them, which statutes were passed prior to the national banking law, State banks are entirely exempt from taxation, will not render a tax upon the shares of national banking associations void. (City of Richmond v. Scott, 45 Ind., 568.)
- (d) And a State tax upon shares in national banking associations is not rendered invalid by an exemption of the shares of other corporations the capital of which consists of property required to be listed for taxation, as such. (McIver v. Robinson, 53 Ala., 456.)
- (e) Merely a partial exemption of other moneyed capital will not invalidate a tax upon shares in national banking associations. (Hepburn v. School Directors, 23 Wall., 480.)
- (f) But though Congress did not contemplate that there should be an absolute equality (which in the nature of things is impossible), yet it did intend that there should be a substantial equality; and, therefore, if the exemptions in favor of other moneyed capital are so palpable as to show that there is a serious discrimination against capital invested in the shares of national banking associations, the tax will be declared unlawful. (Boyer v. Boyer, 113 U. S., 690.)
- (g) A State law which does not permit a deduction to be made from the assessed value of bank shares for all debts due by the holder thereof, while authorizing such a deduction to be made from the assessed value of moneyed capital otherwise invested, is void. (People ex rel. Williams v. Weaver, 100 U. S., 539; reversing S. C., 67 N. Y., 516, and overruling People v. Dolan, 36 N. Y., 59.)

5. COLLECTION OF TAX FROM THE ASSOCIATION:

- (a) A State tax upon shares is valid, though the tax is collected from the bank. (National Bank v. Commonwealth, 9 Wall., 353.)
- (b) And the State may require the banks to pay a tax rightfully laid upon the shares. (Ibid.)
- (c) And where the tax on shares is payable by the association the collection of the tax may be enforced by distraint of its property. (First National Bank v. Douglas County, 3 Dill., 330.)
- (d) But where the tax laws of the State make the bank the mere agent for paying the tax on shares, and direct it to retain so much of the dividends as will answer that purpose, other agents being required to pay taxes for their principals only when they have under their control the property, money, or credit of such principals, the bank cannot be made liable unless it has the control of the property, &c., of its shareholders, or has dividends in its possession, or has failed to retain them. (Hershire v. The First National Bank, 35 Iowa, 272.)

LXXXVIII REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

6. LICENSE TAX:

- (a) National banking associations cannot be subjected to a license or privilege tax. (Mayor v. First National Bank of Macon, 59 Ga., 648; City of Carthage v. First National Bank of Carthage, 71 Mo., 508; National Bank of Chattanooga v. Mayor, 8 Heiskell, 814.)
- (b) A State law prohibiting the establishment of banking companies in the State without authority of the legislature was not intended to apply to banking corporations created by authority of Congress, since such corporations may be legally established in the State without the consent of the legislature. (Stetson v. City of Bangor, 56 Me., 274.)

7. POWERS OF TAXING OFFICERS:

- (a) Municipal officers cannot assess a tax upon the shares of national banking associations until authorized to do so by some law of the State. (Stetson v. City of Bangor, 56 Me., 274.)
- (b) The officers of a national banking association cannot be compelled to exhibit to the taxing officers of a State the books of the association showing the deposits of its customers. (First National Bank of Youngstown v. Hughes, U. S. C. C. (N. D. Ohio, 1878), Browne's N. B. Cas., 176.)
- (c) A national banking association is not exempt from examination by internal revenue officers when it has in its possession any articles subject to an internal-revenue tax. Such an examination is not the exercise of a visitatorial power, and, therefore, is not prohibited by the provision of section 5241, Revised Statutes, that the national banks shall not be subject to any visitatorial powers except those authorized by the national-bank act or vested in the courts of justice. (United States v. Rhawn, U. S. D. C. (E. D. Penn.), Thomp. N. B. Cas., 358.)
- (d) Where by the tax laws of a State a perpetual lien for taxes attaches to property only by virtue of a levy thereon, and such levy is not made prior to the insolvency of the bank, the taxing officers of the State will be restrained, at the instance of the receiver, from levying upon the property of an insolvent national bank, and selling it, for the purpose of collecting a tax. (Woodward v. Ellsworth, 4 Colo., 580.)
- (e) A State may require the cashiers of national banking associations located within its territory to transmit lists of the shareholders to the taxing officers of the various towns in which the shareholders reside. (Waite v. Dowley, 94 U. S., 527.)

8. ENFORCEMENT OF TAXES:

A tax duly assessed upon shares may be enforced in accordance with the general laws of the State on that subject. (Weld v. City of Bangor, 59 Me., 416.)

9. LOCATION OF ASSOCIATION FOR TAXING PURPOSES:

An association which opens an office for the purpose of receiving deposits in another place than that in which it was organized does not become "located" in that place for purposes of taxation. (National State Bank of Camden v. Pierce, U. S. C. C. (E. D. Penn.), 18 Alb. L. J., 16.)

XI. JURISDICTION.

NOTE.—The jurisdiction of the Federal courts in national-bank cases has been very materially changed by the proviso to the fourth section of the act of July 12, 1882. The proviso is as follows:

"Provided, however, That the jurisdiction for suits hereafter brought by or against any association established under any law providing for national banking associations, except suits between them and the United States, or its officers and agents, shall be the same as, and not other than, the jurisdiction for suits by or against banks not organized under any law of the United States which do or might do banking business where such national banking associations may be doing business when such suits may be begun. And all laws and parts of laws of the United States inconsistent with this proviso be, and the same are hereby, repealed."

1. JURISDICTION OF FEDERAL COURTS PRIOR TO THE ACT OF JULY 12, 1882:

- (a) National banking associations may sue in the Federal courts. The word "by" was omitted from section 57 of the act of 1864 by mistake. (Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 505.)
- (b) A national banking association may sue and be sued in the circuit court for the district in which the association is located, irrespective of the amount in controversy and the citizenship of the parties. (County of Wilson v.

REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY. LXXXIX

- (c) But where the amount in controversy does not exceed five hundred dollars, the association cannot sue in a Federal court outside of the district in which it is established. (St. Louis National Bank v. Brinkman, U. S. C. C. (D. Kans.), 1 Fed. Rep., 45.)
- (d) A national banking association located in one State may bring an action in the circuit court of the United States sitting within another State against a citizen of that State. (Manufacturers' National Bank v. Baack, 8 Blatch., 147.)
- (e) When a national bank is sued in a Federal court the suit must be brought in the district in which the bank is located. And service upon an officer of the bank in another district will not give the court of that district jurisdiction of the cause. (Maine v. Second National Bank of Chicago, 8 Biss., 26.)
- (f) A United States district court has jurisdiction of a suit in equity by or against a national banking association located within the district. (First National Bank of Pittsburgh v. Pittsburgh and Castle Shannon Railroad Company, 1 Fed. Rep., 190.)
- (g) A circuit court has no jurisdiction of a suit by a private person to compel the Comptroller of the Currency and the Treasurer of the United States to disclose what disposition has been made of the United States bonds deposited with the Treasurer by a national banking association, and for a decree directing those officers as to their duty regarding such bonds. (Van Antwerp v. Hulburd, 7 Blatch., 425; Van Antwerp v. Hulburd, 8 Blatch., 282.)
- (h) Section 380, Revised Statutes, which provides that "All suits and proceedings arising out of the provisions of law governing national banking associations, in which the United States or any of its officers or agents shall be parties, shall be conducted by the district attorneys of the several districts under the direction and supervision of the Solicitor of the Treasury," does not enlarge the jurisdiction of the circuit court, and cannot be held to confer jurisdiction in such suits or proceedings upon a court not having, independently of this section, authority to entertain them. (Van Antwerp v. Hulburd, 7 Blatch., 426.)
- (i) National banking associations being corporations, organized under the laws of the United States, are entitled as such to remove into the circuit courts of the United States suits brought against them in the State courts. (Cruikshank v. Fourth National Bank, 21 Blatch., 322; see also Removal Cases, 115 U. S., 1.)
- (j) A United States district court has jurisdiction to authorize a receiver to compromise a debt. (Matter of Platt, 1 Ben., 534.)
- (k) An action at common law to recover a debt due to the bank may be instituted by a receiver in a United States district court, he being an officer of the United States within the meaning of section 563, Revised Statutes. (Platt v. Beach, 2 Ben., 303; Stanton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357.)
- (l) The power of a national banking association to take a mortgage upon real estate is a question which the party raising it should be permitted to litigate in a Federal court; and he should not be sent into the State courts to try this question on the distribution of surplus moneys in a foreclosure suit, or in a suit brought by the party holding the alleged invalid mortgage. (In re Duryea, U. S. D. C. (S. D. N. Y.), 17 National Bankruptcy Register, 495.)

2. JURISDICTION OF FEDERAL COURTS SUBSEQUENT TO ACT OF JULY 12, 1882:

- (a) The tenth subdivision of section 629, Revised Statutes, which confers upon the circuit court of the United States jurisdiction of all suits by or against any national banking association established in the district for which the court is held, has been repealed by the proviso to section 4 of the act of July 12, 1882. (National Bank of Jefferson v. Fare et al., U. S. C. C. (E. D. Tex.), 25 Fed. Rep., 200.)
- (b) The object of this proviso was to deprive the United States courts of jurisdiction of suits by or against national banking associations in all cases where banks organized under State laws could not likewise sue or be sued in such courts. (National Bank of Jefferson v. Fare et al., supra.)
- (c) But the proviso does not affect the right of the receiver of an insolvent association to sue in a Federal court. (Hendee v. Connecticut and P. R. R. Co., 26 Fed. Rep., 677.)

- (d) Nor would the act of June 12, 1882, take from the circuit court jurisdiction of a suit brought against a director for negligent performance of his duties; for, as such suit rests upon the requirements of the United States laws, and by-laws made pursuant thereto, it is a case arising under the laws of the United States. (Witters v. Foster, U. S. C. C. (D. Vt.), 28 Fed. Rep., 737.)

3. JURISDICTION OF STATE COURTS:

- (a) State courts have jurisdiction of suits by and against national banking associations. (Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 383; see also Ordway v. Central National Bank, 47 Md., 217, and Clafin v. Houseman, 93 U. S., 130.)

- (b) Where a national banking association is sued in a State court, the suit must be brought in the city or county in which the bank is located. (Cadle v. Tracy, 11 Blatch., 101; Crocker v. Maine National Bank, 101 Mass., 240.)

NOTE.—But the New York court of appeals has held that the provision of the national banking law as to the jurisdiction of State courts is permissive only, and not mandatory, and that a State court, in a proper case, may entertain a proceeding against a national bank located in another State. (Cooke v. The State National Bank of Boston, 52 N. Y., 96; Robinson v. National Bank of New Berne, 81 N. Y., 385; see also Adams v. Daunis, 29 La. Ann., 315.) And in Talmage v. Third National Bank, 27 Hun, 61, the supreme court of New York said: "The words of restriction to the place where said 'association is situated' apply to the county and municipal courts and not to the State courts. In the State courts of general jurisdiction a national banking association can be sued whenever an individual can be for the same cause." In Cooke v. The State National Bank Chief Judge Church questioned the constitutional right of Congress to deprive the State courts of jurisdiction in such cases.

- (c) A State court can entertain an action brought to recover of a national banking association the penalty for taking usury. (Ordway v. The Central National Bank, 47 Md., 217; Hade v. McVay, 31 Ohio St., 231; Bletz v. Columbia National Bank, 87 Penn. St., 87.)
- d) The State courts have jurisdiction of an action brought by a shareholder on behalf of himself and other shareholders to recover of the directors of an insolvent association damages for injuries resulting from their negligence and misconduct. (Brinkerhoff v. Bostwick, 88 N. Y., 52.)
- (e) A State court has no power to make an order directing the receiver of a national bank, who has been appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, to pay a judgment obtained against the bank before the receiver was appointed. (Ocean National Bank v. Carll, 7 Hun, 237.)
- (f) State courts have no jurisdiction of the case of an embezzlement of the funds of the association by one of its officers. (Commonwealth v. Felton, 101 Mass., 204; Commonwealth, ex rel. Torrey, v. Ketner, 92 Penn. St., 372.)
- (g) The defense of usury may be set up in action brought in a State court. (National Bank of Winterset v. Eyre, 52 Iowa, 114.)

4. UNITED STATES CANNOT BE SUBJECTED TO JURISDICTION OF COURT:

Neither the Comptroller nor the receiver by putting in an appearance to a suit can subject the United States to the jurisdiction of a court. (Case v. Terrell, 11 Wall., 199.)

5. CITIZENSHIP:

A national banking association is for jurisdictional purposes a citizen of the State in which it is located. (Davis v. Cook, 9 Nev., 134.)

XII. SUITS.

1. BY AND AGAINST ASSOCIATIONS:

- (a) Suit may be brought against a national banking association though it is in the hands of a receiver. (Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 383; Security National Bank v. National Bank of the Commonwealth, 2 Hun, 287; Green v. The Walkill National Bank, 7 Hun, 63.)
- (b) Where the tax on shares is collected from the association it may bring a suit to enjoin the collection of an illegal tax. (Cummings v. National Bank, 101 U. S., 153; Pelton v. Commercial National Bank, 101 U. S., 143; Boyer v. Boyer, 113 U. S., 143.)

1. BY AND AGAINST ASSOCIATIONS—Continued.

- (c) A State law authorizing national banking associations which have been converted from State banks to use the name of the original corporation for the purpose of prosecuting and defending suits is not in conflict with the national banking law, and, therefore, proceedings based upon a judgment obtained before the conversion, may be instituted by such association in its former corporate name. (Thomas v. Farmers' Bank of Maryland, 46 Md., 43.)
- (d) A national banking association is a foreign corporation within the meaning of a State statute requiring corporations created by the laws of any other State or country to give security for costs before prosecuting a suit in the courts of the State. (National Park Bank v. Gunst, 1 Abb. N. C., 292.)
- (e) As a national banking association can acquire no title to negotiable paper purchased by it, it can maintain no action thereon in a State where the person suing must be owner of the paper. (First National Bank of Rochester v. Pierson, 24 Minn., 140.)
- (f) But in a State where the holder may sue without respect to the ownership an association may bring suit upon paper so acquired. (National Pemberton Bank v. Porter, 125 Mass., 333; Atlas National Bank v. Savery, 127 Mass., 75.)
- (g) Suits brought by a receiver cannot be settled or compounded upon an order of the Comptroller; this can be done only with the authority of the court. (Case v. Small, 2 Woods, 78.)

2. BY SHAREHOLDERS:

- (a) The shareholders of a national banking association cannot maintain an action against the directors to recover damages sustained for neglect and mismanagement of the affairs of the association, whereby it became insolvent and its stock was rendered worthless. Such an action can be brought only by the corporation itself. (Conway v. Halsey, 15 Vroom, 62.)
- (b) But where the receiver refuses to bring an action against negligent directors to recover the amount which the shareholders have been compelled to contribute to pay the debts of the association, an action against such directors may be brought by a shareholder on behalf of himself and the other shareholders. (Nelson v. Burrows, 9 Abb. N. C., 280.)
- (c) And when the receiver is a director, and one of the parties charged with misconduct and against whom a remedy is sought, the action may be brought by a shareholder on behalf of himself and the other shareholders. (Brinkerhoff v. Bostwick, 88 N. Y., 52.)

3. BY RECEIVERS:

- (a) A receiver may sue either in his own name or the name of the bank. (National Bank v. Kennedy, 17 Wall., 19.)
- (b) A receiver being an agent of the United States, all suits and proceedings in which he is concerned should be conducted by the proper district attorney. (Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.)
- (c) But section 380, Revised Statutes, is directory merely, and the employment of private counsel by the receiver cannot be made a ground of defense to a suit brought by him. (Ibid.)
- (d) Receivers may sue in the courts of the United States by virtue of the act, without reference to the locality of their personal citizenship.
- (e) The provisions of the codes that every action must be brought in the name of the real party in interest, except in the case of the trustee of an express trust, or of a person authorized by statute to sue, does not apply to the receiver of a national banking association suing in a Federal court held in a State which has adopted the code procedure; for the right of the receiver to sue is derived from the national banking law. (Stanton v. Wilkeson, 8 Ben., 357.)
- (f) Under section 1001 of the Revised Statutes no bond for the prosecution of the suit, or to answer in damages or costs, is required on writs of error or appeals issuing from or brought to the Supreme Court of the United States by direction of the Comptroller of the Currency in suits by or against insolvent national banking associations, or the receivers thereof. (Pacific National Bank v. Minter, 114 U. S., 463.)

4. BY CREDITORS OF INSOLVENT ASSOCIATION:

The creditors of an insolvent association must seek their remedy through the Comptroller, in the mode prescribed by the statute; they cannot proceed directly in their own names against the stockholders or debtors of the bank. (Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 498.)

XCH REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

5. FOR USURY :

- (a) The penalty for all illegal interest paid to a national banking association within two years prior to the commencement of proceedings may be recovered in a single action, whether the amount was in one payment or in several. (Hintermister v. First National Bank, 64 N. Y., 212.)
- (b) Where a bankrupt has paid usurious interest, his assignee may bring an action against the association to recover the penalty. (Wright v. First National Bank of Greensburg, U. S. C. C. (Dist. Ind., 1878); Crocker v. First National Bank of Chetopa, U. S. C. C. (Eighth Circuit, 1876); 3 Am. L. T., N. S., 350.)
- (c) The party who paid the usurious interest is the only party to the note who is entitled to sue for the penalty. (Lazear v. National Union Bank of Maryland, 52 Md., 78.)

6. TO ENFORCE LIABILITY OF SHAREHOLDERS :

- (a) When the full personal liability of shareholders is to be enforced the action must be at law. (Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 505; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.)
- (b) And it may be at law though the assessment is not for the full value of the shares; for, since the sum each shareholder must contribute is a certain, exact sum, there is no necessity for invoking the aid of a court of equity. (Bailey v. Sawyer, 4 Dill., 463.)
- (c) But the suit may be in equity. (Kennedy v. Gibson, supra.)

7. EXECUTION :

A judgment against a national bank in the hands of a receiver only establishes the validity of the claim; the plaintiff can have no execution on such judgment, but must wait pro rata distribution. (Bank of Bethel v. Pahquioque Bank, 14 Wall., 383.)

8. ATTACHMENTS :

- (a) When a creditor attaches the property of an insolvent bank he cannot hold such property against the claim of a receiver appointed after the attachment suit was commenced. Such creditor must share pro rata with all others. (Bank of Selma v. Colby, 21 Wall., 609; Harvey v. Allen, 16 Blatch., 29.)
- (b) It was not intended by the national banking law to prohibit attachments against the property of national banking associations, except in cases where an act of insolvency has been committed or is contemplated. (Robinson v. National Bank of New Berne, 81 N. Y., 385.)
- (c) But where the association is insolvent an attachment issued against its property will be void. (National Shoe and Leather Bank v. The Mechanics' National Bank, 89 N. Y., 467.)
- (d) And such attachment will not afterward be rendered valid by the acquisition of new capital by the association and its resumption of business. (Raynor et al. v. Pacific National Bank, 93 N. Y., 371.)
- (e) A State court may issue an attachment against property in the State belonging to a national banking association located in another State. (Southwick v. The First National Bank of Memphis, 7 Hun, 96; Contra, Central National Bank v. Richland National Bank, 52 How. Pr., 136.)
- (f) The provision of the banking law forbidding attachments in the case of insolvent associations was not repealed by the act of July 12, 1882. (Raynor et al. v. Pacific National Bank, supra.)

9. ABATEMENT :

An action brought by the creditor of a national bank is abated by a decree of a district or circuit court dissolving the corporation and forfeiting its franchises. (First National Bank of Selma v. Colby, 21 Wall., 609.)

10. ESTOPPEL :

- (a) A shareholder against whom suit is brought to recover the assessment made upon him by the Comptroller will not be permitted to deny the existence of the association, or that it was legally incorporated. (Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.)
- (b) Where one sued by a national bank is accustomed to deal with it, as such, and does so deal with it in respect to the matter in suit, he is estopped from denying its incorporation. (National Bank of Fairhaven v. The Phoenix Warehousing Company, 6 Hun, 71.)

11. SUITS AGAINST LIQUIDATING ASSOCIATIONS:

A national bank which has gone into voluntary liquidation will continue to exist as a body corporate for the purpose of suing and being sued until its affairs are completely settled. (National Bank v. Insurance Company, 104 U. S., 54; Ordway v. Central National Bank, 47 Md., 217.)

12. TRANSITORY AND LOCAL SUITS:

The provision of the banking law (Section 5198, Revised Statutes) which requires that actions brought against national banking associations in State courts shall be brought in the county or city in which the association is located, applies only to transitory actions; it was not intended to apply to actions local in their character. (Casey v. Adams, 102 U. S., 66.)

13. SURVIVAL OF SUITS:

Whether a suit against a director for negligent performance of his duties, as required by the Statutes of the United States and the by-laws of the association, will survive against the executor or administrator depends upon State laws. (Witters v. Foster, U. S. C. C. (Dist. Vt.), 25 Fed. Rep., 737.)

XIII. EVIDENCE.

1. CERTIFICATES OF COMPTROLLER:

- (a) The certificate of the Comptroller of the Currency that an association has complied with all the provisions required to be complied with before commencing the business of banking is admissible in evidence upon a plea of nil tiel corporation; and such certificate, together with proof that the association has been acting as a national banking association for a long time, is amply sufficient evidence to establish, at least prima facie, the existence of the corporation. (Mix v. The National Bank of Bloomington, 91 Ill., 20; see also Merchants' National Bank of Bangor v. Glendon, 120 Mass., 97.)
- (b) The certificate of the Comptroller that the association has complied with all the provisions of law touching the organization of associations removes any objection which might otherwise have been made to the evidence upon which he acted. (Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673; Thatcher v. West River National Bank, 10 Mich., 196.)
- (c) And in a suit against the association or its shareholders such certificate of the Comptroller is conclusive as to the completeness of the organization. (Casey v. Galli, supra.)
- (d) A letter from the Comptroller directing the receiver to institute suit, if not objected to at the time, is sufficient evidence that the Comptroller has decided that the enforcement of the individual liability of the shareholders is necessary. (Bowden v. Johnson, 107 U. S., 251.)

(2) EVIDENCE OF INSOLVENCY:

- (a) It is not necessary that the facts upon which the Comptroller bases his action in appointing a receiver should be established by what is competent legal evidence; but he is left to be satisfied as best he can be, under the peculiar circumstances of each case, of the facts and the necessity for the exercise of his authority. (Platt v. Beebe, 57 N. Y., 330.)
- (b) A return of nulla bona upon an execution issued against the property of a national bank is proof of its insolvency. (Wheelock v. Kost, 77 Ill., 296.)

(3) NECESSITY FOR ASSESSMENT BY COMPTROLLER:

It is not essential, in an action, to enforce the individual liability of the shareholders of an insolvent national banking association, to aver and prove that the assessment was necessary; for the decision of the Comptroller on this point is conclusive. (Strong v. Southworth, 8 Ben., 331; Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall., 505; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S., 673.)

XIV. CRIMES.

I. UNDER UNITED STATES LAWS:

- (a) The wilful misapplication of the moneys and funds of a national banking association, made an offense by section 5209, Revised Statutes, must be for the use or benefit of the party charged or of some person or company other than the association. (United States v. Britton, 107 U. S., 655.)
- (b) The exercise of official discretion in good faith, without fraud, for the advantage or the supposed advantage of the association is not punishable; but if official action be taken in bad faith, for personal advantage and with fraudulent intent, it is punishable. (United States v. Fish, 24 Fed. Rep., 585.)

XCIV REPORT OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

1. UNDER UNITED STATES LAWS—Continued.

- (c) It is not necessary that the officer should personally misapply the funds of the association. He will be guilty as a principal offender though he merely procures or causes the misapplication. (Ibid.)
- (d) A loan in bad faith, with intent to defraud the association, is a wilful misapplication within the meaning of the statute. (Ibid.)
- (e) It is no defense to a charge of embezzlement, abstraction, or misapplication of the funds of a national banking association that the funds were used with the knowledge and consent of the president and some of the directors. The intent to defraud is to be conclusively presumed from the commission of the offense. (United States v. Taintor, 11 Blatch., 374.)
- (f) Where the president charged as a trustee with the administration of the funds of the bank in his hands, converts them to his own use without authority for so doing he embezzles and abstracts them within the meaning of section 5209, Revised Statutes. (In the matter of Van Campen, 2 Ben., 419.)
- (g) If, with intent to defraud the association, an officer allows a firm in which he is a member to overdraw its account, he will be guilty of misapplying the funds of the association. (Ibid.)
- (h) As the national banking law makes the embezzlement, abstraction, or wilful misapplication of the funds of a national banking association merely a misdemeanor, a person who procures such an offense to be committed cannot be punished under a State statute which provides that a person who procures a felony to be committed may be indicted and convicted of a substantive felony. (Commonwealth v. Felton, 101 Mass., 204.)
- (i) An indictment charging defendants with aiding and abetting a director in a wilful misapplication of the money of an association must state facts to show that there has been such misapplication committed by the director. (United States v. Warner, U. S. C. C. (S. D. N. Y.), Feb. 13, 1886, 26 Fed. Rep., 616.)
- (j) Allowing the withdrawal of the deposit of one indebted to the association cannot be charged as a misapplication of the money of the association. (United States v. Britton, 108 U. S., 193.)
- (k) It is not a wilful misapplication of the money of the association within the meaning of section 5209, Revised Statutes, for a president who is insolvent to procure the discounting by the association of his note not well secured. (Ibid.)
- (l) Prior to the act of February 26, 1881, a notary public holding his commission under a State had no authority to administer the oath required by section 5211, Revised Statutes; and, therefore, a cashier who made oath before such notary to a false statement of the condition of his association, was not guilty of perjury. (United States v. Curtis, 107 U. S., 671.)
- (m) Where false entries are made by a clerk at the direction of the president, the latter is a principal. (In the matter of Van Campen, supra; United States v. Fish, supra.)

2. UNDER STATE LAWS:

- (a) An officer of a national banking association cannot be punished under State laws for embezzling the funds of the association. (Commonwealth, ex rel. Torrey v. Ketner, 92 Penn. St., 372; Commonwealth v. Felton, 101 Mass., 204.)
- (b) But where the offense committed by an officer is properly a larceny of the funds, and not an embezzlement, he may be indicted under a State law. (Commonwealth v. Barry, 116 Mass., 1.)
- (c) And an officer may be punished under State laws for making false entries in the books of the association with intent to defraud it. (Luberg v. Commonwealth, 94 Penn. St., 85.)
- (d) The officers of a national banking association may be prosecuted under State statutes for fraudulent conversion of the property of individuals deposited with, and in the custody of the association. (Commonwealth v. Tenney, 97 Mass., 50; State v. Fuller, 34 Conn., 280.)

3. TERM "UNITED STATES CURRENCY" IN PENAL STATUTE:

The circulating notes of national banking associations are included in the phrase "United States currency" when used in a penal statute. (State v. Gasting, 23 La. Ann., 1609.)
