DIGEST OF DECISIONS RELATING TO NATIONAL BANKS.

[The following Federal cases were reported in vol. 246-248, United States Reports, and vols. 251 to 258, Federal Reporter. One State case from North Carolina is also given.]

COLLECTIONS.

Sale of stock for customer—Liability for fraud of customer.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) A bank held not liable in tort for the sale, for account of a customer, of shares of stock owned by plaintiff, where plaintiff had indorsed the certificates in blank and forwarded them to the customer as a broker for sale, and there was no evidence that the bank had knowledge or notice of his ownership. (Snowden v. Marine Natl. Bank of Pittsburgh, 256 Fed. Rep., 350.)

DEPOSITS.

Deposits in court—Public moneys of United States.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Moneys in court deposited in a designated depositary of the United States are not public moneys of the United States. (Chatham & Phenix Natl. Bank of the City of New York v. Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, 256 Fed. Rep., 90.)

Deposits in court—Deposits of money by Federal court—Interest.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) An order by the Secretary of the Treasury requiring depositary banks to pay interest on daily balances on all deposits by government agencies, including courts, does not authorize a court to order a bank to pay interest on a deposit by its clerk to a party to a suit. (Ib.)

EXTENSION OF CHARTER.

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of stockholder—Notice.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Under Act July 12, 1882, § 5, providing that a stockholder, not assenting to amendment of articles of a national banking association, extending its existence, may give notice to directors of desire to withdraw, whereupon he shall be entitled to receive the value of his shares, ascertained by appraisers selected by him and the directors, notice to the president, unless shown to have been communicated to the directors, is insufficient. (Conway v. First National Bank of Rome, Ga., 256 Fed. Rep., 277.)

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of stockholder—Notice.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Resolution of directors of national bank, authorizing president to apply to Comptroller of Currency for approval of amendment of its charter extending its existence, did not authorize him to receive or waive notice for them, under Act July 12, 1882, § 5, from a nonassenting stockholder, of desire to withdraw. (Ib.)

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of stockholder—Notice.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Under Act July 2, 1882, § 5, as to notice of desire to withdraw, which a stockholder, not assenting to amendment of articles of national banking association extending existence, is authorized to give "within 30 days from date of the certificate of approval," notice can be given only when and after the amendment has been approved by the Comptroller. (Ib.)

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of stockholder—Notice.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) That letter of stockholder, in answer to request of president for consent to disposition of certain assets, preparatory to examination by Comptroller, as preliminary to renewal of charter, stating that he had bought his stock with intention to liquidate it, and was not in position to carry it permanently, was not intended as the formal notice of desire to withdraw, required by Act July 12, 1882, § 5, to be given by stockholder not assenting to extension of existence of national banking association, is apparent from the language used. (Ib.)

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of stockholder—Notice.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) That letter by stockholder to president of national banking association, relative to disposition of certain assets preliminary to extension of existence, was not intended to be treated, even by the stockholder, as a substitute for the formal notice of desire to withdraw, required by Act July 12, 1882, § 5, is apparent from subsequent efforts of stockholder to ascertain when the notice must be given, and his actual attempt to give it. (Ib.)

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of stockholder—Notice—Estoppel.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Want of authority of president of national banking association to represent it in respect to notice of desire to withdraw, which stockholder not assenting to renewal of its charter must, under Act July 12, 1882, § 5, give to the directors, prevents the bank being estopped to deny sufficiency of notice too late under the statute, but within the time that the president is claimed to have told the stockholder's representative that it could be given, especially when this was in a casual conversation, and the president did not assume to act for the bank, and had no reason to believe he was talking to a representative of the stockholder. (Ib.)

Renewing charter of national banks—Withdrawal of member—Notice—Information as to time.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) The directors of a national banking association, to whom, within 30 days after approval by Comptroller of Currency of amendment of its articles extending its existence, a nonassenting stockholder must give notice of desire to withdraw, entitling him to receive from the bank the appraised value of his shares, are under no duty to give information of the approval, in the absence of request. (Ib.)

INSOLVENCY AND RECEIVERS.

Insolvency—Claims.

(U. S. D. C., 1918.) On insolvency of national bank and appointment of receiver, creditor becomes equitable cestui que trust in assets in proportion that his claim bears to total amount, and his right to participate may not be diminished by claims arising subsequently to insolvency; right to participate being determined as of date of insolvency. (In re United Grocery Co., 253 Fed. Rep., 267.)

General deposit—Relationship of "Debtor and creditor."

(U. S. D. C., 1918.) A general deposit of money in a checking account with a bank creates simply the relation of "debtor and creditor" between the bank and the depositor. (Ib.)

LIABILITY OF RECEIVERS UNDER SEC. 5209.

Section 5209 Revised Statutes does not apply to receivers of national banks appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency under Revised Statutes, section 5234.

(U. S. Sup. Ct., 1918.) Receiver of national bank appointed by Comptroller of the Currency is officer of the United States, not agent of the bank. (U. S. v. Weitzel, 246 U. S., 533.)

Statutes not to be extended by intentment.

(U. S. Sup. Ct., 1918.) Statutes creating and defining crimes are not to be extended by intentment upon the ground that they should have been made more comprehensive. (Ib.)

NOTE.—Sec. 5209 was amended on Sept. 26, 1918, making receiver liable for all violations of this section.

INSURANCE.

Insurance—Burglary insurance—Risks insured.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) A bank's burglary insurance policy, covering loss (a) by abstraction from its locked safe by force; (b) by damage to money, securities, safe, and furniture caused by forcible entry or attempted entry into the safe or premises; and (c) loss by robbery (1) from within the banking inclosure; (2) from an officer or employé transferring money between the inclosure and safe; and (3) from within the safe, by compelling an officer or employé to unlock the safe, held to cover losses from safe only when the safe is closed and locked and entrance is effected by either "cracking" the safe or forcibly compelling an officer or employé to open it, and not to cover loss where money was taken from an open safe. (Franklin State Bank v. Maryland Casualty Co. Same v. United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., 256 Fed. Rep., 356.)

Insurance—Burglary insurance—Breach of warranty—Error in description of equipment.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Although false statement in schedule of bank's burglary insurance policy that insured's safe was locked by both combination and time lock might be deemed merely an "error in description of equipment," which would reduce the indemnity, in case of loss, yet the statement, "All combination and time locks will be continued to be regularly used during the currency of the policy," was a promissory warranty, breach of which avoided the policy. (Ib.)

Insurance—Breach of warranty—Effect—Contributing to loss.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Breach of insured's warranty will avoid his policy, though such breach does not contribute to the loss. (Ib.)

INTEREST AND USURY.

Holding back part of loan as deposit is usury.

(N. C. Sup. Ct., 1919.) Where a national bank loans money at the highest rate of interest and holds back 20 per cent of the amount loaned on general deposit and not subject to the borrower's check, charging interest on the entire amount, the transaction is usurious. In an action by the bank on the notes given by the borrower, it was held that the bank could recover only the principal amount of the loan and not the interest agreed upon by the parties. It was also held that the borrower was not entitled to counterclaim in this action for the penalty of twice the amount of the usurious interest paid and that this could be recovered only by a separate and independent action against the bank. (Planters' National Bank of Virginia v. Wysong & Miles Co., 99 S. E. Rep., 199.)

LIQUIDATION.

Liquidation of national banks—Suit against stockholders.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Contract for consolidation between two national banks by which one agreed to voluntary liquidate and transfer all its assets to the other, which agreed to act as its liquidating agent and to pay all claims against it, construed, and, as acted upon by the parties, held to create the relation of debtor and creditor between them, which would support a suit against the stockholders of the liquidating bank on the insufficiency of its assets to pay its debts. (American Nat. Bank of Macon v. Commercial Nat. Bank of Macon et al., 254 Fed. Rep., 249.)

OFFICERS.

BONDS OF OFFICERS.

Principal and surety—Fidelity bonds—Renewals—Avoidance for breach of warranties.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) A surety company, which executed a bond, insuring the fidelity of a bank cashier, and annual renewals thereof, each "subject to all the covenants and conditions" of the original bond, and made in consideration of a written statement by the bank that the cashier was not then in default, which statements were by the original bond made warranties, held not liable for defaults occurring after the original term, where it was shown that the cashier was in default during such term, and that all renewal statements to the contrary were false. (Green v. Interstate Casualty Co., 256 Fed. Rep., 81.)

POWERS OF AND REPRESENTATION OF BANK BY OFFICERS.

Discharge—Money obtained by means of a material false statement in writing.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Credit extended to a bankrupt by a bank through its cashier, who knew that the bankrupt was then insolvent, and who was acting solely in his own and the bankrupt's interest, was fraudulent and voidable, and the bank was not bound by its cashier's fraud, and could claim that the money was obtained by means of a material false statement in writing as to money not checked out, where the directors of the bank examined note signed by bankrupt and false financial statement attached thereto, and relying thereupon, approved the loan. (Bank of Commerce & Savings v. Matthews, 257 Fed. Rep., 292.)

Questions of fact—Remanding case.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) On appeal from an order discharging a bankrupt over an objection that the bankrupt had obtained money by means of a materially false statement in writing, where it was found that the master had erred in finding that the false statement was not relied upon by the bank in extending the credit, and it appeared the master had made no finding as to whether the statement in writing was known to be false by the bankrupt, a finding by the trial judge from the printed record that the bankrupt did not read the statement or know its contents will not be allowed to stand, and the order of discharge will be reversed, so that the uncontradicted testimony of the bankrupt to such effect can be heard and its truth decided upon an observation of the witness, as well as upon his testimony. (Ib.)

Corporations—Representation by officer—Bank checks—Indorsements.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Indorsements of checks by a corporation's secretary are all in effect in the name of payee corporation by its secretary, though, in some, "Company" is abbreviated to "Co." and "Secretary" to "Secy.," or "Sec." (Santa Marina Co. v. Canadian Bank of Commerce, 254 Fed. Rep., 391.)

Corporations—Secretary—Authority to indorse checks—Evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Evidence held to show that secretary of corporation, with knowledge and consent of its president and board of directors, was authorized to indorse checks payable to it, as for five years he did. (Ib.)

Bills and notes—Checks—Negotiability—"General indorsement."

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Checks with "general indorsement," defined by Civ. Code Cal. § 3112 as one by which no indorsee is named, are negotiable instruments. (Ib.)

Corporations—Authority of secretary—Indorsing checks.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Authority of secretary of a corporation to indorse in blank checks payable to it was not limited by the mere fact that its president and board of directors supposed he deposited them with its bank. (Ib.)

Checks—Deposits.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Secretary of corporation having authority to indorse in blank checks payable to it, title to checks so indorsed passed on delivery to his bank, when tendered by him to it for deposit to his own account, unless it had timely notice that he had no title, or it acted in bad faith in receiving them. (Ib.)

Deposits—Estoppel.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) A corporation, which gives its secretary authority to indorse in blank checks payable to it, is estopped to recover of his bank, which acted in good faith in receiving them for deposit to his account. (Ib.)

Appeal and error—Matters reviewable.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Appeal from decree by plaintiff alone brings up for review only what was decided adversely to him, and not whether decree, so far as favorable to him, was erroneous. (Ib.)

Certificate of deposit—Issuance for individual debt—Risk of authority.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) One to whom a bank's president, in payment of his individual debt, issued its certificate of deposit, accepted with knowledge thereof, took the risk of the president's authority, depending on whether there had been a contemporaneous deposit, as recited in the certificate; the principle that his general powers would give apparent authority not applying, where he is known to be acting in his own interest. (First Nat. Bank of Sweetwater, Tex., v. Rust et al., 257 Fed. Rep., 29.)

Certificate of deposit—Issuance for individual debt—Authority—Burden of proof.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) One to whom a bank's president issued its certificate of deposit in payment of his individual debt, accepted with knowledge thereof, seeking to hold the bank thereon, has the burden of proving the making of the recited contemporaneous deposit, necessary for the authority to issue certificate. (Ib.)

Certificate of deposit—Evidence of deposit.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) A bank's certificate of deposit having been issued by its president in payment of his individual debt, and accepted with knowledge thereof, neither recital in certificate nor statement in letter of president to person receiving the certificate is evidence against bank of deposit having been made, necessary for president's authority to issue certificate. (Ib.)

Statement of bank president—Past transaction.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Statement of president of bank, to one to whom its certificate of deposit had been issued by its prior president in payment of his individual debt, that its books showed the deposit called for thereby, is not inadmissible against it, in the absence of injury therefrom raising an estoppel; it amounting to an admission that past transactions had occurred and had been evidenced by the bank's books. (Ib.)

Representation of bank by officers—Notice to officers.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) Knowledge obtained by an officer of a bank as an individual, and not as an officer of the bank, can not be imputed to the bank, or permitted to operate to its prejudice. (Coleman et al v. Shortsville Wheel Co., 257 Fed. Rep., 591.)

Discount of note—Rights against maker and indorser.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) A bank, holding the note of a customer for valuable consideration, is not bound by an arrangement between the maker and indorser as to its payment, of which the bank had no knowledge. (Ib.)

Discount of note—Effect of renewal.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) The rights of a bank upon a renewal note can not be affected by knowledge which it obtained after it acquired the original note for value and prior to the renewal. (Ib.)

OFFICERS, CIVIL LIABILITY OF.

LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS FOR MISMANAGEMENT.

Liability of directors for declaring dividends out of capital.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1917.) The liability of directors of a national bank for voting and declaring dividends out of the capital is not absolute, and they are not liable if they exercise reasonable diligence and acted in good faith, in the belief that the dividends were payable from net profits. (Williams v. Spensley et al., 251 Fed. Rep., 58.)

Directors—Liability—Dividends.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) In an action by a national bank against a former director to recover, on the theory that a dividend had improperly been declared, held, that the declaration of the dividend, which was at the suggestion of the Comptroller of the Currency to wind up branches of the bank, was not improper, and no liability could be predicated thereon, as practically the whole of the dividend was immediately transferred to the bank by the stockholders. (First National Bank of Fairbanks v. Noyes, 257 Fed. Rep., 593.)

DEGREE OF CARE REQUIRED OF DIRECTORS.

Directors—Liability.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Directors of a national bank owe a common-law duty to exercise ordinary care and prudence in the administration of the affairs of the bank, and they should not be shielded from liability for want of knowledge of wrongdoing, if that ignorance is the result of gross inattention; but they can not be held responsible for the wrongful act of other directors, nor to intimately know to whom credits are given. (First National Bank of Fairbanks v. Noyes, 257 Fed. Rep., 593.)

Directors—Liability.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) In an action by a national bank against a director to recover for various losses, including improper extension of credits, claimed to have resulted from the director's neglect, evidence held insufficient to show that the director was liable, either at common-law or under the National Banking Act. (Ib.)

Directors—Liability.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Where a national bank seeks to recover against a director for a loss resulting from the director's violation of a duty imposed by the National Banking Act, proof of something more than negligence is required, and there must be proof that the violation was in effect intentional. (Ib.)

LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS FOR ASSENTING TO EXCESSIVE LOANS.Equitable estoppel—What constitutes.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) That a director of a national bank signed his name to reports to the Comptroller of the Currency, representing branches maintained by the bank to be separate institutions, held, as the bank knew all the facts in relation thereto, and did not act to its detriment in reliance on the reports, not to estop the director from asserting, in a suit by the bank to recover against him because of excessive loans to a branch, that such branches were part of the bank itself. (First National Bank of Fairbanks v. Noyes, 257 Fed. Rep., 593.)

Branch banks—What are.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) In an action by a national bank against a former director to recover on account of excessive loans to alleged separate institutions, etc., held, that such institutions were branches maintained by the bank to purchase gold dust, so statements to the Comptroller showing the condition of accounts between the bank and branches were not notice to the director of loans to the branches, or of loans made to borrowers under authority of the bank. (Ib.)

Directors—Liability.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) A director of a national bank, who was not familiar with banking business, held not negligent because he did not examine into advances made by the bank to branches which it maintained, and no recovery can be had on ground of excessive loans by the branches, where the president and majority stockholders of the bank represented all sums sent to the branches were for purchase of gold dust. (Ib.)

OFFICERS, CRIMINAL LIABILITY OF.PROSECUTIONS.INDICTMENTS.Procedure.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) Indictments should not be presented to the grand jury without leave of court, where there appears no real necessity for proceeding without a preliminary hearing before a magistrate or commissioner. (United States v. Jenks, 258 Fed. Rep., 763.)

Venue.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) An indictment is demurrable which does not set out that the offense charged was committed within the jurisdiction of the court. (Ib.)

Embezzlement—Intent.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) Intent to defraud is an essential element of a violation of Rev. St., sec. 5209, as amended by act Sept. 26, 1918, relating to embezzlement, etc., by officer, director, agent, or employee of any Federal Reserve Bank or member bank. (Ib.)

Conspiracy—Venue.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) An indictment for conspiracy is not fatally defective, where it alleges the place where the overt acts are charged to have been done, although the venue of the conspiracy is not set out. (Ib.)

To defraud the United States.

(U. S. Dist. Ct., 1919.) One could not be convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States, consisting in exercising, under a certain circular issued by the Treasury Department, the privilege of converting first Liberty loan 4 per cent bonds into third Liberty loan 4½ per cent bonds after the time limit set out in the circular had expired, using for that purpose bonds of the United States deposited with the Federal Reserve Bank, unless it be shown that the accused had knowledge of the terms of the circular or of the time within which the conversion privilege could be exercised. (Ib.)

FALSE ENTRIES.

Offenses by officers of national bank—Making false report.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) An indictment against an officer of a national bank, under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), for making a false entry in a report, is not duplicitous because it charges that the entry was made with intent to injure and defraud the bank and to deceive the Comptroller of the Currency, and any agent appointed to examine the affairs of the bank. (Boone v. United States, 257 Fed. Rep., 963.)

Offenses by officers of national bank—Indictment.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) An indictment against the president of a national bank held to properly charge him, not as principal, but as accessory to the making of a false entry in a report to the Comptroller, in that he abetted, aided, counseled, and procured such entry to be made by the cashier. (Ib.)

Offenses by officers of national bank—Trial—Evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) On trial of the president of a national bank, charged with aiding and abetting the making of false reports to the Comptroller, evidence of the condition of his account and his indebtedness to the bank, although as it stood at a later date than the reports, held admissible. (Ib.)

Offenses by officers of national bank—Trial—Sufficiency of evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Evidence on trial of the president of a national bank for violation of the statute held sufficient to require submission of the case to the jury. (Ib.)

Reversal—Sufficiency of evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) That the evidence in support of the charges in certain counts of an indictment, on which defendant was acquitted, was stronger than that under the single count, on which he was convicted, is not ground for reversal. (Ib.)

Offenses.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution against the president of a national banking association and his successor, under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Compt. St., sec. 9772), for directing false entries in the books with intent to deceive and for misapplication of funds, evidence held sufficient to sustain a conviction. (Galbreath et al. v. United States, 257 Fed. Rep., 648.)

Offenses—Intent.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution, under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), against the president and another officer of a national banking association for misapplication of funds and for directing false entries in the books, a showing that the false entries were made with intent to deceive, and that the misapplications were made to injure or defraud bank, is essential to conviction. (Ib.)

Offenses—Intent.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution, under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), against the president and another officer of a bank for making false entries in the books and misapplying funds, evidence held sufficient to carry to the jury the question whether the entries were made with intent to deceive and the misapplications with intent to injure or defraud the bank. (Ib.)

Offenses—Intent.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) An intent to injure or defraud a national banking association by misapplication of funds, which offense is defined by Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), is not inconsistent with the desire for the ultimate success and welfare of the bank, and such intent may, within the meaning of the law, result from an unlawful act voluntarily done, the natural tendency of which is to injure the bank. (Ib.)

Appeal—Presumptions—Judgment.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Where there is a good count in the indictment, and the evidence is sufficient in law to support it, and judgment is such as might have been imposed upon it alone, the presumption is that it was imposed upon the good count, supported by evidence, and will not be reversed, though there are bad counts, or counts unsupported by evidence. (Ib.)

National banks—Offenses—Evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), against the president and another officer of the national bank for misapplying funds and making false entries in the books, which practices occurred in connection with loans and advances to a company in which those officers were interested, the admission in evidence of parts of the record in bankruptcy proceedings of such company, showing it was adjudicated a bankrupt on admission in writing that it was entirely insolvent, and that dividends of only 10 per cent were paid, was proper, though the last transaction charged in the indictment occurred six months before the bankruptcy. (Galbreath et al. v. United States, 257 Fed. Rep., 648.)

Evidences of other offenses—Remoteness.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), against the president and another officer of a bank for misapplying its funds and making false entries in the books in connection with loans and advances to a company which became insolvent, evidence of similar transactions occurring two or three years before those set forth in the indictment is admissible, over the objection of remoteness. (Ib.)

Review—Evidence—Secondary evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) The sufficiency of proof of loss of records to warrant the admission of secondary evidence of their contents is primarily addressed to the trial judge, whose findings should not be disturbed, unless plainly wrong. (Ib.)

Secondary evidence—Loss of books.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution against the president and another officer of a bank for misapplication of funds and the making of false entries in the books in connection with loans and advances to a corporation which became bankrupt, testimony by an expert accountant, who had examined the books and records of the company which became a bankrupt, and had made summaries thereof, held admissible on proof of loss of such books and records. (Ib.)

Harmless error—Evidence—Instructions.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution against the president and director of a bank for making false entries and misapplication of funds in connection with loans to a company which became bankrupt, the admission of evidence of the contents of books and records of such bankrupt was not error, where the court charged there was no presumption that defendants knew the contents of such books, and that the evidence could be considered only to the extent it was shown defendants did have knowledge of contents. (Ib.)

Evidence—Secondary evidence.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) In a prosecution against officers of a national bank, who were charged with making false entries, etc., an expert accountant may testify as to summaries which he made of the contents of such books, in connection with loans to a company which became bankrupt and whose books were lost; the fact that the accountant reversed certain items in making his summary not rendering the testimony inadmissible, where the changes were explained by him to the jury. (Ib.)

Misapplication of funds—Intent.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) In a prosecution under Rev. St., sec. 5209 (Comp. St., sec. 9772), where it was charged that defendant, while acting as the cashier of a national banking association, willfully misapplied its moneys, funds, or credits, and such misapplications were effected by the payment of checks drawn on the bank by persons having no money or funds to their credit who were insolvent and financially unable to pay the sums, evidence that defendant, while acting as cashier, obtained money from the bank by discounting a note which he knew to be a forgery, is admissible to show intent. (Apgar v. United States, 255 Fed. Rep., 16.)

TRIAL AND ITS INCIDENTS.

DRAWING OF JURY.

Drawing of jurors—Rule in United States court—Trial of criminal cases.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) In the absence of a rule and order governing the drawing of jurors for the trial of cases in the Federal courts, that matter is in control of those courts, subject only to the restrictions Congress has prescribed and to such limitations as are recognized by the settled principles of criminal law. (Apgar v. United States, 255 Fed. Rep., 16.)

Jury—Petit jury—Panel.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Though district judge who was designated to hold court in an adjoining district entered an order while without the district directing that the panel of petit jurors be drawn, held that, as the Judicial Code does not make such an order a prerequisite to the validity of a drawing of the names of those to be summoned to serve as petit jurors, the action of the jury commissioner in following the order amounted to no more than the drawing of jurors without an order, which irregularity the District Court could waive. (Ib.)

Jury—Petit jury—Drawing.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Where a district judge was designated to hold court in an adjacent district with the powers provided for by Judicial Code, sec. 14 (Comp. St., sec. 931), held, under section 19 (section 986), and in view of section 17 (section 984), that an order entered by such judge, while without the second district directing the drawing of petit jurors, was valid, for the order was one which could be made by the judge while in chambers, and it is not necessary that it be made within the territorial limits of the district wherein it was to be effective, as the judge's chambers are considered to be where he is and authorized to be engaged in performing his judicial duties. (Ib.)

Appeal.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Where plea in abatement to indictment did not show that the district judge appointing the jury commissioner was without the district at the time he entered the order and the record did not show that fact, the overruling of the plea can not be held erroneous on writ of error. (Apgar v. United States, 255 Fed. Rep., 16.)

Review—Harmless error.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) Where defendant was convicted on many counts, and sentenced to a penitentiary term of five years on each count, the terms to be served concurrently, an error in the charge, affecting the conviction as to only one count is harmless and no ground for reversal. (Ib.)

Trial—Instructions.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) The refusal of requested charges fairly covered by the charge given is not error. (Ib.)

TAXATION.

State taxation of the property or shares of national banks determined exclusively by section 5219, Revised Statutes.

(U. S. Sup. Ct., 1919.) The extent to which the States may tax the property of the shares of national banks is determined exclusively by section 5219 of the Revised Statutes. (Bank of California, National Association, v. Richardson, Treasurer of the State of California, 248 U. S., 476.)

(U. S. Sup. Ct., 1919.) The object of the section is to avoid withdrawing the financial resources of national banks from the reach of State taxation, and at the same time to protect the banks as Federal agencies from State interference. It therefore, with certain restrictions, permits the shares of the bank to be taxed to the shareholders, and, in the aspect treats the ultimate beneficial interest of the bank and the shareholders as one, subject to but one taxation and by that method only. (Ib.)

Shares of State bank held by national bank, how taxed.

(U. S. Sup. Ct., 1919.) Shares of State bank, when held by national bank, can be reached only by tax upon shares of latter, and are not taxable to bank itself. (Ib.)

Shares of national bank held by another national bank, how taxed.

(U. S. Sup. Ct., 1919.) Shares of national bank, held by another national bank, are taxable only to latter as shareholder, and are not to be included in valuing shares of latter when taxing its shareholders. (Ib.)

DEDUCTIONS.

Bank stock—Exclusion from assets of Federal Reserve Bank stock—Statute.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1918.) Despite Federal Reserve Act Dec. 23, 1913 (Comp. St., secs. 9785-9805), under Rev. St., sec. 5219 (Comp. St., sec. 9784), stockholders of a national bank were not entitled, for purposes of the assessment of state, county, and municipal taxes, to any deduction of the value of their holdings on account of the bank's holdings of Federal Reserve Bank stock. (First Nat. Bank of Cincinnati v. Beaman et al, 257 Fed. Rep., 729.)

Liberty bonds—Bank stock—State statutes.

(U. S. Dis. Ct., 1918.) Liberty bonds, declared exempt from taxation by the statute under which they are issued, are indirectly taxed, in violation thereof and its underlying principles, when owned by a bank, by tax under Code Supp. Iowa 1913, sec. 1322, providing that its shares shall be assessed to its stockholders, the value thereof to be based on its capital, surplus, and undivided earnings, and its property not to be otherwise assessed; the bonds being considered in determining the value of the stock, and the bank's property being in truth assessed. (Iowa Loan and Trust Co. v. Fairweather, 252 Fed. Rep., 605.)

Internal revenue—Excise taxes—Calculation—Deduction of State taxes.

(U. S. D. C., 1918.) State, county, and municipal taxes paid by a bank under Laws Fla., 1907, c. 5596, sec. 8, constitute a liability of the bank, and not its stockholders, and are to be deducted from the gross income of the bank, to ascertain the net amount on which the 1 per cent. of excise tax under Act Aug. 5, 1909, sec. 38, cl. 2, subd. 4, is to be calculated. (United States v. Guaranty Trust and Savings Bank, 253 Fed. Rep., 291.)

TRUSTS.

Trusts—Resulting trust—Payment of purchase money for land.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) One who buys land with money of another as his representative, but takes conveyance to himself, holds the title in trust for such other. (Pollman et al v. Curtice et al, 255 Fed. Rep., 628.)

Notice to president.

(U. S. C. C. A., 1919.) A bank, which through its president and managing officer made a loan on land, and the president, who afterward bought the land subject to the mortgage, held not bona fide purchasers for value without notice, where the grantor in fact held the title in trust for another, who on purchase of the land a year before paid the consideration, which was known to the president, through whom the negotiations were conducted, and who also knew other facts sufficient to put him on inquiry, and whose knowledge was attributable to the bank. (Ib.)

NOTE.—Specie payments were suspended from Jan. 1, 1862, to Jan. 1, 1879. During the greater part of that period gold and silver coins were not in circulation except on the Pacific coast, where it is estimated the specie circulation was generally about $25,000,000. This estimated amount is the only coin included in the above statement from 1862 to 1875, inclusive.

NOTE 2.—The Director of the Mint recently made a revised estimate of the stock of gold coin, and as a consequence of such revision the estimated stock of gold in the United States and of gold coin in circulation has been reduced $135,000,000 in the figures for 1907.

NOTE 3.—There was a reduction as of June 30, 1910, of $9,700,000 of subsidiary silver coin as a result of the revision of stock by the Mint Bureau.
